

Miss D'Unger's Recitals

The parlor of the St. Louis was well filled last evening with the friends of Miss D'Unger and the parents and friends of her pupils, the occasion being the recitals by pupils, together with musical and other selections by well known Duluth ladies and gentlemen. The programme was as given yesterday morning, with the addition of the reading, by request, of "The Mother," by Miss D'Unger, and encores. The young misses who had places on the programme, Florence Silberstein, Berta Miller, Fannie Barber, Carrie Ross and Natalie Dowse, all acquitted themselves admirably, and their recitations were enjoyed by every one present. The selections were such as to show the training of the pupil in both light and serious pieces. Some of the little ladies give promise of rare merit as readers. Miss Manger's piano solos were executed in her usual perfect manner and were roundly applauded. Miss Willis and Mr Stone were both in perfect voice and hardly ever have we heard them sing better. Both were called back for a second song. Mr. Rudolph gave the humorous selection "Was Bender Henspeckel" and the Frenchman's toast to the ladies, in an imitable way. Miss D'Unger is to be congratulated upon the perfect success of her "recital," which showed how well she has instructed her pupils. It is to be hoped that this is but the beginning of a series of like ones.
