

DISTRICT COURT NOTES.

Joe Soular's mother will come up from Blwabik to visit him probably the latter part of this week. Joe at present employs his time making fancy cloth baskets.

The creditors of the Bell estate objected to some of the sales by Assignee Markeli being confirmed Saturday in special term. Judge Moer confirmed but a few. He refused to confirm the sale of the Warner building and some lots in Portland division.

Receiver L. D. Campbell asked the court to have the officers of the J. J. Costello Hardware company examined to find out the exact amount of the assets.

Judge Moer overruled the demurrers in the case of the county against the bondsmen of the American Loan and Trust company.

Samuel Gulan, the peddler, was discharged from the county jail Saturday on a writ of habeas corpus by Judge Morris.

This morning County Auditor Halden will dispose of about 1,000 parcels of property on which the taxes for 1894 have not been paid. Secretary Wasgatt will act as auctioneer and much interest is manifested in the sale.
