

FOOLED THE CROWD.

Young Man from Seine River Country Has Some Fun to Himself.

W. J. Thulman, a young man of St. Cloud who has been prospecting in the Seine river country for several months, returned yesterday with a great expanse of walrus and wearing buckskin trousers with leggings. He has a number of friends in Duluth and when he presented himself he was not recognized. One of them thought he must be just returned from the Klondike on account of his costume and this gave Mr. Thulman an idea.

With the aid of a friend he had the report circulated that he was a Russian Jew just from the Klondike with $12,000 in nuggets and a gun a foot and a half long. Everybody took it seriously. For particulars inquire of Munro Nichols, J. J. Hoobar, W. M. Abrahamson, Henry Haskins, E. L. Fisher and many others that might be mentioned.

Mr. Thulman was the center of interest with each of these gentlemen for a time yesterday. They could not find an interpreter for him till he chose to speak English. Mr. Hoobar borrowed the buckskin pants to wear to a party last evening.
