

TOWN TALK

High grade Minneapolis and central Minnesota farm mortgages for sale. Minnesota Loan & Trust company.

Beautiful pictures of the Maine, 18x24, colored, etc., etc, now on sale at the Century News Store, 614 at S. Open Sundays.

There will be a meeting of ninth ward democrats this evening at Hogan's hall, 617 Monroe street, for the purpose of organizing a ward club.

George L. Wells of Hamline and Rev. W. B. Riley, pastor of First Baptist church, addressed a meeting of prohibitionists at Vergell's hall last evening.

Three lodges of the Order British Abraham will have a lecture meeting at Keneseth Israel hall, Fourth street and Sixth avenue N. Dr. Hirschfeld will speak on "Citizenship."

Dr. A. L. Clum will address the meeting of the First Christian Spiritual Union Sunday evening at 604 Nicollet avenue. Mrs. L. J. Vaughn will close with a spirit greeting.

Drinking is a disease and can be cured. Dr. Keeley has so proven. All desire for liquor permanently removed without sickness at corner Park avenue and Tenth street, Minneapolis.

A free hand ball tournament has been arranged for next Wednesday evening between the teams of Hamline University and the Y. M. C. A. The games will be played on the new court.

Andrew Fulton, colored, arrested for the larceny of a number of watches from Ed. Wirsen, waived examination in the police court this morning, and was bound over to the grand jury in $300 bonds.

The Journal want page contains every evening the largest number of ads, has the largest number of readers and is the best-arranged and classified want page of any daily in the northwest.

The little son of Mrs. H. R. Johnson, while hunting with a match for a toy yesterday, set fire to the apartments at 221 Hennepin avenue. The fire was quickly extinguished after a damage of $40 had been sustained.

Mrs. Carrie Jennette Huntington, wife of Frank M. Huntington, died yesterday of pneumonia at her home, 127 E. Franklin avenue. The funeral will be held from the residence at 2:30 p. m. to-morrow and the interment will be at Hillside.

Patrick McTive, 38 years old, is held at the central station for the St. Paul authorities. He was found wandering through the offices of the city hall. It is supposed that he is insane. His son, a Catholic clergyman, visited him last night.

Olof Ostlund was hurt in a runaway accident yesterday and is now confined at the city hospital with a broken collar bone. His horse became unmanageable and threw Ostlund out on the curb at Eleventh avenue S and Eighth street. An officer caught the team.

N. P. Olsen, late city editor of the Evening Press, believes that he has found a field in South Minneapolis and will start a weekly paper with democratic sympathies. The office will be in the old Scandia bank building on Cedar avenue and Fourth street. Mr. Olsen has had years of experience in newspaper work and is a capable man for the enterprise.

The police believe that there is a gang of horse thieves operating in the city and in support of the view point to a number of reports of stolen horses. The last one was that of T. K. Gray, who had his horse and rig stolen from Sixth street and First avenue S Thursday night. The thieves are particular to get good buggies for very often they turn the horses loose.

At a meeting of the Men's Club of Plymouth church last evening, Rev. R. N. Adams, synodical missionary of the Presbyterian church of this state, delivered an address depicting the life of his company in the field during the early days of the rebellion. He was a student in Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, when the war broke out. Out of about 300 students, 120 enlisted, making Dr. Adams their captain and becoming a part of the Twentieth Ohio volunteers. The address was replete with interesting incidents of his company.

Owing to the scientific and reliable basis upon which the Fidelity Mutual Life Association of Philadelphia is founded, premium payments for the purpose of accumulation, under the ordinary form of policies, are about 40 per cent below the arbitrary old-line standard. Through this reduced accumulation policy-holders have been saved millions of dollars in excessive premiums, and yet the cash and invested assets of the company now amount to nearly $1,000,000 more than the future premium deficiency. The Fidelity's surplus is a guarantee against any increase in the future cost of its insurance, and will be apportioned among members at periods stated in their policies. So well entrenched is the Fidelity in its finances that if it did not receive a premium for two years to come it would be able to meet its liabilities. There are not many commercial establishments that could continue business for two years if custom were withdrawn for so long a time. The Fidelity provides for future as well as present.