

GOT HIS CONTRACT.

---

Judge Edson Patches Up a Little Difficultly Without Costs.

A search warrant was sworn out yesterday by E. J. Akey, who claimed that Mr. Polinsky of No. 26 West Superior street had taken the original of a contract regarding the sale of several Chicago newspapers, from Akey and refused to return it. It seems that a dispute as to the contents of the contract arose between the two, Polinsky's brother having been a party to the contract. Polinsky, Akey says, asked to see the contract. Akey handed it to him and Polinsky refused to give it back.

The matter came up before Judge Edson yesterday afternoon. Polinsky handed the contract to Judge Edson and the judge after hearing the matter handed the contract to Akey and dismissed the case without costs.