

CHARLIE SPIKETALL TALKS TO CHAPPIES

Calls Down His Friend "Tux" for the Stand He Has Taken on the Dinkey Jacket.

CHARLIE SPIKETALL read the letter addressed to him in The News Tribune and signed "Tuxedo and Sidestep," with great interest. He has addressed a letter in reply which is herewith given: Dear Tux—For you will permit me to call you "Tux," won't you? Our space being limited, I read with much interest your maiden plunge into the field of society journalism. You're all right old chappie; I like your vigorous phrasing, masterful diction, references to Martha Washington, Rip Van Winkle, 1880 dress coats and other pleasanties.

I detect in you, Tuxey, a strain of the fiery Southern blood, ever ready to draw in the defense of any old thing, but it pains me to see such misdirected chivalry. Pile upon you Tux! To break a lance in the defense of the misuse of the dinner jacket: for I take it you approve of arming them to balls and receptions although your year is such a jumble of contradictions I hardly know how to answer.

You admit it is a college boys' fad; 'nuff said—that's what I claim it is, you dear, simple boy; and when you have outgrown looking at life from the narrow viewpoint of a college boy, and emerge into the great world and realize you have only just begun your education, you will take to wearing the despised claw-hammer at balls, and wonder how you could ever have worn your "Tuxedo" at any but its proper function. Stop and think of it, Tuxey; how undignified a man of your stature (for I think I know you) looks wearing a dinkey jacket which strikes him slightly lower than the middle of his back. Think of your comical appearance bending over some fair lady's hand in the entrance of Virginia. I'll bet the Southern gentleman does not wear them. It would be impossible for him to conceal his pistol or dirk without the aid of coatfalls. And then you go on babbling of women of Virginia. I'll admit they are among the loveliest on earth, but you forget, dear, ingenious Tuxey, we have a few good lookers right here in Duluth, and it was awfully bad form for you to come out in cold type and state that they could not compare with your Virginia girls.

You also mention Washington, D. C. I know you must be familiar with that city, but you must know, Tuxey, from the very nature of things, it does not represent social life in its highest and most exclusive form, owing to its heterogeneous population. But, by the way, Tux, did you ever, during your career at Washington, witness President McKinley or Senator Dorr at a reception, arrayed in a "Tuxedo" coat? There, there, Tuxey! Don't get mad. You're a well-meaning cuss, and I like you. You have fresh young blood coursing through your veins, and view the world and its fads through the eyes of spectacles of vigorous youth, and let me confess to you on the quiet, I'd give up all hopes of wealth if time would only turn backward fifteen or eighteen years, and make me your age again. Yes—I would even consent to wear the "Tuxedo," dance the slide step and "pump-handle," engage dances three weeks ahead, go without gloves—anything.

With kind regards, believe me, your pessimistic old pal.

CHARLEY SPIKETALL.

P. S.—By the way, I wish to acknowledge the receipt of the following letters of inquiry from some of my young society friends. I wish the dear chappies would hand in these letters earlier in the week, so that they may receive immediate attention.

Mr. Charles Spiketall, care News Tribune. Dear Sir: You have agreed to answer some questions regarding your matters that interest us society butterflies. Now, I would like to know why the delightful old custom of making New Year calls is less popular and not as generally observed as in past years. Yours truly, COLONEL B. B. D. T.

Mr. Charles Spiketall, care News Tribune. Dear Sir: Many years ago, when I was a boy, a lad who wore trousers with creases in them down the front was looked upon with disdain. It was a sure sign that the garments were "shame-dovens." Now it is the correct thing to have a neat crease running down each leg. Please tell me why these erratic social notions should prevail? Yours cordially, O. A. M.

Mr. Charles Spiketall, care News Tribune. Dear Sir: Can you tell me why it is that the people of Duluth have acquired the habit, at theater, concert, lecture, card parties, church, and what not, of straggling in at all hours? Can you not suggest some remedy for this breach of social etiquette? Most hopefully, T. C. F.

Mr. Charles Spiketall, News Tribune, Duluth, Minn. Dear Sir: If we understand that if we do not do anything wrong with the rainfall of the day, if we drop a card to you, you will have it regulated. I don't want anything regulated just now, but I would like to ask the reason—the logical reason—of your antipathy to the Tuxedo. Humbly, I would ask if it is not custom and recognition by the best dressers that makes a garment the proper thing on certain occasions? I think you will grant this, for there is no other law that regulates dress for either sex. Why, then, your tirade against the Tuxedo? It is generally recognized as proper at the theater for evening wear. Is it simply because you don't like it? That's no reason. That's like a woman's "because." Tell us, Charlie, isn't it because you don't look well in one? Now, be honest. Yours, QUIZ.

A New Year. Ding, dong! Ding, dong! This old year will soon be gone, But a new one's coming on, Ding, dong! Ding, dong! Tell us, Year, before you go— Ding, dong! Ding, dong! Why at last you hurry so, Though at first so very slow? Ding, dong! Ding, dong! Can't you wait until we see What the new year means to be? Ding, dong! Ding, dong! I wish years would never change; No one wants a year that's strange. Ding, dong! Ding, dong! Big folk say 't would never do, None would live the past anew; But I'd like to—wouldn't you? Ding, dong! Ding, dong! Just the same? No, I must be Better with each year, you see. Old year, don't you ply me? Ding, dong! Ding, dong! Ding!

Friday evening The Assembly gave a delightful party at the Spaulding, which proved to be the most successful one in the history of the club and also one of the prettiest parties of the season. The holiday spirit was present and a most enjoyable time was spent. La Brosse furnished excellent music. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. James McAuliffe, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burg, Mr. and Mrs. John Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maginnis, Mr. and Mrs. Rothermel, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thornton, and Mrs. Grondin. Misses Fanny Howes, Davidson, Erna Richards, Mildred Cleland, Kate Kennedy, Emma Judd, Clara Ames, Rena Smith, Hartman, Hill, Grace St. Clair, Ethel Wentworth, E. Smith, Annie White, Mae Kennedy, Barbara Haug, Durrey, West Superior, Porter, Hawk, of Omaha; Gertrude Smith, Mary Bartlett, Mildred Porter, Hilda Willoughby, Luella Tyler, May Sherwood, Chloë Francesin, Rachel St. Clair, Cora Lettau, Gould, of West Superior. Messrs. Carl Richards, George Smith, Moore, Charles results, much support being given by the graduates of the University of Michigan, in which Mr. Kelsey holds the chair of senior Latin professor. He is at the head of the American Classical School at Rome and has just returned from the scene of his lecture, Pömpel. Mr. Kelsey brings with him a large number of stereopticon slides which add much to the enjoyment of the lecture.

The Outlook club will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. Henry C. Marshall. The club is studying Dutch history and the lesson this week is on Philip the Second, with sub-heads, Monarchists vs. Republicans, and Treaty of Westphalia. Miss Lester and Miss Le Tournau will have charge.

The Saturday club has asked Miss McDonald to lecture in Duluth, and already they feel much encouraged at the interest shown in the announcement. Miss McDonald has a pleasing manner, is a most earnest talker and arouses much enthusiasm in her listeners. She will lecture in the Unitarian church on Tuesday evening, Jan. 14th. All who have the opportunity to hear her should not fail to attend.

After the close of business Saturday night, the department heads and employees of Esmuth's had an informal farewell reception for Mr. Hugo Hirschman, who for five years has been at the head of several departments, and as a token of the popular esteem in which he is held, his friends presented him with a handsome engraved, gold mounted umbrella. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Gray and was appropriately responded to by the recipient.

Mr. Hirschman leaves Duluth tomorrow for St. Paul, to become a member of the firm and manager of Rothschild & Co., the largest wholesale millinery house in the northwest. Mr. Hirschman has been very popular in local Jewish social circles and while his friends regret his departure all wish him the success his ability so justly merits.

The beautiful Cantata "The Coming of the King" by Dudley Buck, which was given at the Pilgrim Congregational church, last Sunday evening, will be repeated by request this Sunday evening. The Pilgrim church quartette with other fine voices makes up the following strong chorus. Soprano: Mrs. Berryman, Miss Alice Field, Miss Boyle; contraltos, Miss Frazer, Miss Hector; tenors, Mr. Martin, Mr. Cleland; basses, Mr. Alexander, Mr. H. G. Gearhart, Organist, Mrs. J. N. McKinley.

Greysolon du Lhut chapter, D. A. R., celebrated Forefathers' day at the home of Mrs. W. A. McGonagle, last Monday at 8 o'clock. The officers for the year are: Regent, Mrs. W. A. McGonagle; vice regent, Mrs. W. C. Winston; secretary, Mrs. A. D. Goodman; treasurer, Mrs. Clara S. Clapp; registrar, Mrs. N. H. Maynard; chaplain, Merriman.

Friday afternoon Mrs. S. D. Allen gave a reception in honor of Miss Katherine Jewell Everts, of Boston. Mrs. Allen, Miss Everts and Miss Ensign received and were assisted by Mrs. W. W. Hillson, Mrs. Giles Gilbert and Mrs. Charles A. Stark served in the dining room and were assisted by Miss Grace Gilbert and Miss Alice Hillson. The table was attractive in green and red, ground pine and holly being used.

Miss Katherine Jewell Everts, who gave a reading here last evening is the guest of Judge and Mrs. J. D. Ensign. New Year's eve Mr. and Mrs. Ensign and Miss Ensign will entertain in her honor.

Mr. E. P. Towne has cards out for a reception Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Charles Weyerhauser of Little Falls.

Last evening Mr. Seth Marshall entertained the Alumni members of the Totia chapter of the Lambda Sigma Fraternity. Plans were made for the Lambda Sigma convention that is to be held here next spring, and a social time was enjoyed. Those present were:

Paul Hale, Harland Wentworth, Rene Hugo, Earl Richards, Byron Howard, Leonard Bradley, Wilson Bradley, Frank Edson, Frank Gilbert, Will Le

Strange, Carson Agnew, Stewart Draper, Charles Claypool.

The congregation of St. Peter's Swedish Episcopal church have lately acquired and fitted up a chapel at 1922 Michigan street West. They held here a short service of rejoicing on the evening of the 26th, at which Mr. Louis Rietz made an address. Later the congregation met in a social way at the home of Mr. Louis Halesquist, where Mr. L. A. Ehrenstrom made a congratulatory address to the rector, Rev. K. I. Totterman, and presented him on behalf of the congregation with a handsome purse. Refreshments were served and afterwards Mr. C. J. Tuttle spoke of the ancient Swedish church, showing how the Vikings first came in contact with christianity and how missionaries from France and England first planted the cross among the Scandinavians and established the church of Christ. He went on to say that the Swedish church was much like the English church, in that at the time of the reformation it was more reformatory than revolutionary, and so kept all the necessary qualities of the ancient church of Christ. It was broad and conservative, liberal and loyal to the faith "once for all delivered to the saints."

octave of the Christmas festival, there will be special music at St. Paul's church both morning and evening. At the morning service a new Te Deum by L. W. Bliss will be sung for the first time on the theme of the old hymn tune "Duke Street." Mr. Roy Frytz will sing Adam's "Holy season meeting." Mr. Carl Tyler will take the tenor solo in "Calm on the Listening Ear of Night." Gounod's beautiful anthem "The Angels Sing" will also be sung. Miss Rena Smith sustaining the solo part. In the evening the special carol service will be of interest to all who care for the ancient traditional carols of the church, of which several will be sung by the choir, the solos being rendered by various members of the choir. The new anthem "God from on High Hath Heard" will also be repeated. Mr. Carl Tyler as soloist. A short address will be given by Dr. Ryan on "The Christmas Message."

Among the affairs planned for New Year's Day informal reception to be given by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Lee Gilbert. This delightful custom of receiving on the first day of the year is nearly extinct in Duluth. It is to be revived, for it is a most enjoyable and appropriate manner of observing the first day of the year.

The past week has been rather dull for Christmas week, but the coming one has much in store. The assembly tomorrow evening will doubtless be "the" social event of the winter. New Year's day will of course bring the gaiety. Mr. and Mrs. William Bunker will have cards out for a reception that afternoon to Mr. and Mrs. Merrill and Miss Merrill of Minneapolis.

Tomorrow evening at the Masonic Temple the Ionic Lodge, No. 123, A. F. and A. M., will hold its installation of officers, after which there will be cards and dancing. The council will be addressed by Mr. Oscar Mitchell, who will inform the women on the existing laws and ordinances bearing on the subject.

Of much interest to Duluth society is the announcement of the engagement of Miss May Merrill, of Minneapolis, niece of Mr. and Mrs. William Prindle, and Mr. Clarence Day Shepard. Miss Merrill is well known here, having visited many times. The announcement was made last Saturday evening at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Prindle. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Howard T. Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Bishop, Miss Ella Markel, Miss Josephine Fayston, Mrs. Grace Gilbert, Miss Helen Spencer, Mr. Ward Ames, Mr. J. Wells Gilbert, Mr. C. D. Shepard and Mr. G. H. Spencer.

Tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hansen will entertain the members and friends of the Lester Park Literary club. They will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Burbank, Mr. and Mrs. Wiggins and Mr. and Mrs. Norton.

Miss Anna L. Birch and Mr. Eugene Bunker will be married New Year's morning at the Birch homestead, near Proctoroknot. Both of the young people are well known in this city. Rev. Robert Forbes will officiate at the ceremony. After the wedding the bridal couple will go east.

Miss Lillian Beck and Miss Irene Reau entertained the Social Club Thursday and Friday evenings at their homes, 90 East Third street, and 208 Eighth avenue east. Music was rendered by Misses May Brown and Lillian Beck, and vocal solos by Misses Irene Reau and Miss Gertrude Brown. Dancing and games were also enjoyed. The members present were: Misses Jennette Pifer, May Brown, Gertrude Brown, Florence Beck, Mary McDonnell, Nellie Reau, Helen McCue, Anna Polski, Lillian Beck, Irene Reau and Abble Powers.

Commencing Jan. 1st 1902, Prof Fred G. Bradbury will open a school of violin and cello instruction, the object of which will be to further interest in the violin and bring the price of lessons within the reach of people of limited means. There is constantly a large number of pupils at less than the prevailing prices, which means that there are many dejected and talented children that are unable to take musical instruction. With this in view Mr. Bradbury has associated with him two of the most competent teachers in the city for the purpose of giving private and class lessons at 35 cents and upwards. There will also be offered a school of class scholarship, meaning a student of violin lessons for six months, to a dejected boy or girl between the ages of 10 and 15 years. The student may enter on or before Jan. 20th 1902. The applicant to come with a letter of recommendation from a known business man or a pastor of a church. The pupils studying at the school there will be given two class lessons each month and the student Bradbury will be charged. Further information will be gladly given at the school office, No. 8 Columbus Bldg., First avenue West and Superior street.
