

LAST SAD RITES.

Remains of Simon P. Cook Laid to Rest in Hebrew Cemetery.

A large number of friends of Simon P. Cook, the high school student who died Tuesday noon from effects of drinking carbolic acid, taken under the impression that it was medicine, attended the funeral services held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence, 314 East Second street.

Several beautiful floral pieces were sent by friends, and among them was one from the class of '03, Duluth Central High school, of which the deceased was a member, and the acknowledged leader in scholarship.

Interment was made at the Jewish cemetery, near Woodland.
