William Austin, a negro was convicted of begging yesterday, in the municipal court and his sentence was suspended on his promise to leave town as soon as he could obtain employment with a circus. Austin made a living by exhibiting a deformed foot and then taking up a collection. One of his feet closely resembles that of an elephant, both in size and shape. The toes are the size of an ordinary man's biceps. The lower portion of the leg shows abnormal muscular development. The deformity has existed since birth. Austin has traveled with several circuses.

After being out for ten hours, a jury in the district court at Two Harbors last night returned a sealed verdict in the slander suit brought by County Auditor John Oleson against County Attorney M. O. Aubolee, for $3,000 damages. The alleged slander was contained in a circular which is said to have been issued during the last campaign by the county attorney. Both the plaintiff and the defendant are republicans and the feud between them is of long standing.

John H. Pinkerton, who with Myron Anderson was drowned on the north shore a few days ago, was formerly a newspaper man in Michigan and Wisconsin. He was foreman at the Ingersoll camp at Sugar Loaf. He and Anderson had been attending a meeting at Torfe, and it was while trying to get back by boat that their craft was overturned in some manner and both perished. As already stated the body of Anderson has been recovered, and the body of Pinkerton is to be searched for. The overturned boat was picked up by the steamer Roor, Captain E. F. England.

D. M. Philbin returned yesterday from the east, and says that the Flynn property in Section 8, at Hibbing, on which he has closed his option, has not yet passed into the hands of an operating concern. It is reported, however, that negotiations are pending whereby it may soon. There is a feeling in mining circles that it will go to the Cleveland Cliffs or Corrikan, McKinney & Co.

Harry Carroll, advertising manager at the I. Freimuth department store, returned yesterday from a trip of ten days, during which he visited Fort Arthur, Koochiching and Winnipeg.
