MOUNT ZION TEMPLE IS DULY DEDICATED

Services Are Held in New Edifice at Holly Avenue and Avon Street.

The presentation of the key of the temple of the Mount Zion Hebrew congregation, Holly avenue and North Avon street, by Max Frankel, chairman of the building committee, to Jacob Dittenhofer, president of the con-gregation, marked the dedication last night of that new edifice.

The programme of the dedication services included a sermon by Dr. I. L. Rypins, rabbi of the congregation; an address by Rev. Richard W. Boynton, pastor of Unity church; invocation by Rabbi E. L. Hess; Scriptural reading by Rabbi S. N. Deinard, of the congregation of Shaare Tov, Minneapolis; benediction by Rabbi S. N. Deinard, and musical selections by the choir.

"This beautiful temple, the result of the efforts of a few members of the faith of reformed Judaism, is now consecrated, and all who may come within its portals may hear the teachings of Israel," said Dr. Rypins, in his sermon. 'From this altar the principles for Which Israel has bled during centuries of persecution will be explained to all who wish to listen.

"I have often been asked whether Christians are allowed to enter our temples, and whether we conduct our services in English," continued Dr. Rypins, "so little does the public know of our way of worshiping God.

Faith Is Simple.

"Our faith is simple; in fact, in its simplicity lies its peril, as well as its glory. The oneness of God and right-eousness of conduct are the principles of Indian and these because so give of Judaism, and these, because so simple, may fail to interest many who desire to revel in the mysteries of meta-physics or psychology. We believe in one God, and we believe that we can one God, and we believe that we can best serve Him by living righteously. Israel has accentuated this faith during the past thirty-five centuries, and will continue to adhere to it. Israel has never sent out a missionary, while our sister denominations have spent millions each year in gaining proselytes. When they have secured a single Jew it has been proclaimed far and wide, but in most cases they have been ide, but in most cases they have bee cheated, for we can say of the one they have gained, 'good riddance.'
"Special credit is due to the men and women of this congregation for their efforts in erecting this temple. They have consecrated their resources to-wards providing the beautiful edifice in which we are worshiping tonight for the first time." Rev. Boynton congratulated the congregation upon the completion of their new temple, and complimented Dr. Rypins for his success in carrying his plans to a successful issue.

Temple Richly Finished. The temple, filled to its capacity last ght by the large gathering which inessed the dedication ceremonies, combines quaint architectural design and beautiful decorations. The interior is elegantly finished, the seats, the platform, altar, being of oak, with oak inels and oak borders with rich ryed designs about the walls. Behind the altar is a shrine before which hangs a perpetual light in a beautiful lamp. The organ, consisting of seventy-five gilded pipes, is mounted on a corresponding to the other decorations.

The windows are in harmony with The memorial windows will be dedicated by Dr. Rypins at the service to be held at the temple this morning. The window in memory of Alexander and Lina Guiterman is one of the notable features of the temple decoration. It represents the marriage of Isaac and Rebecca, and was executed by the Willet studios, from the original painting by William Willet.

The window is made up of the costliest imported antique glasses, and the conception of the subject is original and strikingly beautiful. The faces and the sheep and camel lit by the rays of the red sun of the tropics, produce remarkable effect. Several other memorial windows and two candelabra will be dedicated. The Mount Zion Hebrew congregation, which last night went into its new home, had for many years its place of worship at the temple, corner of Tenth and Minnesota streets. or Tenth and Minnesota streets. The congregation was organized in 1857, and today include many wealthy members. Dr. Rypins has been rabbi of the congregation four years and a half.

"0'Sullivan" ... Rubber Heel

Is like "Sterling" on Silver

When you buy silver you always look for the word "Sterling." If it's there, all right. If it isn't, you won't take it. You can't tell, unless you are an expert, whether it is solid or plated, and you don't need to, for that word "Sterling" tells the whole story. The same way with rubber heels, When you see this stamp

ALDERMEN SAVE CITY OUTLAY OF $1,500

Vote Down Resolution to Expend That Sum in Advertising Pamphlets.

A resolution by Aid. Corning appropriating $1,500 from the city emergency fund to pay for 10,000 pamphlets advertising the city at the world's fair was defeated by the aldermen last evening by a vote of 8 to 8—Corning, Elder and Holt casting the affirmative votes.

In addition to Mr. Corning Thomas Cochran and E. S. Chittenden made talks in which they said that the pamphlet that had been agreed upon by the St. Paul world's fair commit-tee was decidedly the best of its kind. tee was decidedly the best of its kind.
They thought that they had made a very good deal with the author in securing an offer of about 15 cents a copy.
In the course of Mr. Cochran's re-said that St. Paul does not do sufficient advertising, and said that he felt sure that great good would be done if the pamphlets were given out at the fair. As Minneapolis would out at the fair. As Minneapolis would give away a pamphlet he thought that St. Paul should do likewise.

Ald. Bantz took the stand that the purchase of the pamphlets would practically be wasting the $1,500, as they would be thrown away by the recipients, and Ald. Buschmann thought that 15 cents a copy was exorbitant for such a booklet.

Abnormal conditions in the iron trade

Abnormal conditions in the iron trade will not continue this season, and the result will be that not much more than 60 per cent of last year's ore mined on the Mesabi and Vermillion ranges will be taken out this season.

Neil McInnis, a well-known mining man and a former member of the state legislature, was in St. Paul yester-day from his home at Eveleth and talked of conditions on the ranges.
"The last two or three years have been memorable ones in the iron trade of the country," said McInnis, "but the prospects are that this year conditions will revert to the normal and iron men do not expect to mine more than 60 per cent of the output of last year on the Minnesota ranges. The mines have been unusually active during the win ter and the ground reserved for stock plies is pretty nearly exhausted. Navi-gation will not open much before the end of the present month and the docks at Cleveland are said to be all filled for this time of year. The result is that there is little doing in the mining towns There have been no labor troubles on the ranges, save in one instance, where the men at the Chandler mine at Ely went out because of dissatisfaction with the superintendent. T. Nakagawa, though the son of a wealthy Japanese tobacco manufacturer and the possessor of a fine Japanese education, is not afraid of work, but he could not stoop to the level of accepting tips, and for this reason his work as a beliboy has been somewhat distasteful to him. Being informed that it was a part of the business to accept tips when offered by guests, the young man made no complaint until last night, when the tip was offered by a waiter. That was the limit of Nakagawa's forbearance, and he is now searching for employment in some private family, where he may earn his own living while pursuing his desire to learn the English language and Ameri-

Nakagawa, together with seven other Japanese boys, came to St. Paul three months ago, being brought here from Seattle to replace the colored beliboys at the Merchants. Like several of his companions, Nakagawa came to America and sought employment more for the purpose of gaining an opportunity to secure an American education than for the money there was in the venture, as his family is wealthy and he does not have to work.

Having secured a good education in Tokyo, the young man's ambitions led him beyond the narrow confines of his own country, and believing a hotel to be an excellent place in which to come in contact with all kinds of Americans. and a good place to learn the English language in a practical manner, he took the position as bellboy.

He scorned to accept aid from his father, and determined to make his own way in the world, he came to America with the intention of work-ing among Americans until fall, when he will enter a preparatory school with a view of going to Harvard as soon as he qualifies. Accustomed in his own home to servants of all kinds, he was reluctant to accept the tips offered to him by well meaning travelers, and more than once discussed the evil with his companions, some of whom were similarly situated. When the waiter offered him 10 cents Nakagawa decided it was time to call a halt, and he did. Nakagawa was offered a position by a local physician, who employs a Japanese chef, but declined it, saying he preferred to get into a family where he would not meet with any of his own countrymen.

"I came to America to learn the American language," he said, "and I want to find a place where I will have to speak it altogether."

DEMOCRATS MAY NAME ROSE FOR CONGRESS

They Believe He Could Defeat Steenerson in Ninth District.

A movement has been started among Ninth district Democrats looking to the nomination of William E. Rose, county attorney of Polk county, for congress. The district is quite strongly Republican, but it is said that Rose is willing to give up his berth as county attorney and make the race provided his party selects him as its representative.

The district is now represented by Halvor Steenerson, of Crookston, a Republican, and former law partner of County Attorney Rose. There is said to be much dissatisfaction with Steenerson among the farmers of his discrete. erson among the farmers of his district because of his alleged hostility to the policy of reciprocity with Canada, and as the Democratic nominee in the Ninth will probably be nominated on a reciprocity platform, a strong, active candidate will give the Republican nomines. lican nominee a hard fight, and one with prospects of success.
Steenerson apparently will have no opposition for a renomination by the Republicans, though hundreds of his constituents are not in sympathy with his stand-pat attitude on the tariff. He recently wrote an open letter to the editor of the Red Lake Falls newspaper in which he took a position against concessions to the reciprocity senti-ment in his district.

John E. Beckman, thirty-seven years old, died at Bethesda hospital Thursday night as the result of a bite by a fish. Beckman, who was a farmer emfish. Beckman, who was a farmer employed near Amery, went fishing a few rods from the farm last Sunday. He had unusual luck, and when he landed a fish much larger than the others had a rather hard time getting the hook from its mouth. During the operation the fish bit Beckman on the finger. The digit was badly lacerated. He went home and applied home remedies, but the finger began to swell and soon went home and applied nome remedies, but the finger began to swell and soon his whole arm was inflamed.

A physician was consulted, but bleed poisoning had already developed. Monday he was brought to this city and sent to Bethesda hospital, but his case was beyond hope. Yesterday relatives took the body back to Amery for burial
