Body Sent to Cloquet.

The remains of George Gammon, who died several days ago, have been sent to his late home at Cloquet by Durkan & Crawford.

Falls Through Window.

Erick Dahl was arrested last night for being drunk and disorderly. While trying to walk along the Bowery he fell through a window, but escaped with a slight cut on his hand.

Street Cars Collide.

One of the large street cars collided with a "dinkie" on the Eighth avenue west and aerial bridge run about 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in front of the Palladio building. No one was injured and the traffic was delayed but a few minutes.

Has Relatives in Buffalo.

James Norria, who died Wednesday night at the Metropolitan lodging house, has two sons at Buffalo. Flood & Horgan are making an effort to locate them, but up to a late hour last night nothing had been heard from them.

One Man Enlisted.

The United States army recruiting officers yesterday enlisted George D. Anderson into the service and last evening he, with six others, who enlisted at Biwabik, left for Fort Snelling, from where they will be sent to different regiments.

Remains Reach City.

The remains of B. E. Webber, the salesman of the P. N. Peterson Granite company of this city, who died in his bed at the Endion hotel at Cass Lake Wednesday, are at Durkan & Crawford's undertaking parlors. The funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

Steamers Inspected.

Capt. John Monaghan and M. F. Chalk of the local office of steamboat inspectors yesterday inspected the following steamers in the Duluth-Superior harbor: Schuykill, William Henry Nack, Charles Beatty and the Jesse Spalding.

Temple Emanuel Services.

Temple Emanuel holds regular Sabbath services every Friday evening at 8 o'clock sharp. The subject this evening will be "Worship and Music." The public at large is cordially invited to attend.

Woman Found Insane.

Mary Samskar, residing in the West End, was examined in the probate court yesterday and found to be insane. She will be committed to the hospital for the insane at Fergus Falls. Mrs. Samskar is under the delusion that her husband is going with women and that he is faithless.

Law Regulates Nursing.

The legislature has passed authorizing a state registration for nurses at St. Paul, which is of much interest to the nurses of this city. By its provisions all graduates will be registered, which will allow others who have not had a thorough training from practicing a fraud upon the public.

Funeral Tomorrow.

The funeral of J. J. Sullivan of Virginia will take place from the cathedral at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. Sullivan was a former resident of Duluth, having made this city his home for 25 years. He was a member of Division No. 1, A. O. H., and also of the Druids. He leaves a wife and four children.

Row Over Beer.

John Solberg and William Bodean were arrested last night by Officer Bradley on a charge of disorderly conduct. The trouble started in a Bowery saloon over a glass of beer and Solberg claims that Bodean followed him out. They did not mix things very strenuously, for the officer appeared on the scene before they had an opportunity to go very far. Solberg was later released on $15 bail.

Court Is Merciful.

The court evidently thought that Charles Burg, who was arrested yesterday on a charge of assault in the third degree, had been punished sufficiently already. He was found guilty, but sentence was suspended. It was alleged by the plaintiff that Burg had come into his room while he was asleep and assaulted him with a "bottle." Burg had two large black eyes to show for the encounter.

Suit Is Transferred.

The personal injury case of Frank E. Skarp, administrator for the estate of Nickolas Kuoppola, against the Mahoning company, was yesterday transferred from the St. Louis county district court to the United States circuit court. Kuoppola was struck by a train while at work in a mine near Hibbing on Sept. 18, 1906, and died the following day. He was 25 years old, single and was the main support of his aged father and mother. The plaintiff asks $5,000 damages.

Case Is Argued.

Judge Cant yesterday heard the arguments in the habeas corpus proceedings which were instituted by Moses Cook, a local pawnbroker who was recently convicted under a city ordinance prohibiting the selling of jewelry at auction, and took the matter under advisement. The arguments were partly heard last Saturday and were completed yesterday upon Judge Cant's return from Carlton. Baldwin, Baldwin & Dancer, Cook's attorneys, claim that the ordinance under which Cook was convicted, is illegal.

Sues for Boy's Wages.

Q. J. Bunting has commenced an action in district court against the city of Hibbing to recover $136, which he alleges is due Claude Rutter in wages, but which has been assigned to him. Bunting claims that in April, May and June, 1903, when an epidemic of smallpox was prevalent at Hibbing, Claude Rutter, aged 18, acted in the capacity of janitor in the Cox building, which had been turned into a temporary hospital to accommodate some of the stricken people, and that he worked 52 days at a salary of $3 a day. The parents of young Rutter, it is alleged by the plaintiff, were divorced a short time later, and the money due Rutter, who had been awarded to the custody of his mother, Letitia Rutter, was assigned to plaintiff. It is claimed that only $20 of the amount alleged to be due has been paid, and suit is brought to recover the balance, $136, with interest.
