

THE week has been uneventful socially, save for weddings and rumors of weddings. Yesterday's Commercial reception for Miss Rena Vivienne created a stir socially and Duluth hostesses tied with Rena's schoolyard friends and the business men in the city in paying the young singer homage. The reception was unique—in fact it embraced two men and the lady in whose honor the affair was given, the women having yielded the privilege to the other sex. Dr. A. W. Ryan and Mr. T. W. Hugo carried off the honors gracefully, however, and made a splendid foil for the beautiful young prima donna. Of course tomorrow night's concert will be the event of the week. It was said last night that the house was made up for the occasion and all the boxes are taken.

This week's quota of June brides is quite full. The arrival of summer occasioned considerable pleasurable excitement and picnic parties are popular just now. Talk has been had and the indications are that every month night of the summer will be an occasion for boulevards, picnics, as well as canoeing, boating and sailing. The girls are all home. So are the boys. And the social summer season will be one long good time.

The pupils of Mrs. D. H. Day will be heard at a Summer Musical Wednesday evening. They will be assisted by Miss Rachel St. Clair, reader, and Mr. George Sufel, clarinet. Mrs. St. Clair has lately returned from Boston, where she has been studying dramatic expression. Miss Mae Wylie will be accompanist for the musical. The program is well selected and much briefer than the usual musicals which partakes of the nature of a pupils' recital. Among the pupils who will play are: Rachel Hammel, Ruby Marquardt, Marian McEneaney, Vivian Turritt, Corilla G. Martin, Edith Gomer, William Westgaard, Ray Cook, Virginia Harrison, Marguerite Gether, Alice Lang, Nannie Turritt, Estelle Gomer, Elizabeth McEneaney, Kathleen Smith, Jeannette Gomers, Bessie Markowitz, Gertrude Logan, Clara Komlek, Mrs. J. H. Jera, Mrs. A. J. Hunter, Bertha Mendelson, Laura Le Duc and Alyda Flaten.
