

INJURED DRIVER HAS CHANCE TO RECOVER

Early this morning St. Mary's hospital reported that Samuel Jaffe, the young driver whose skull was fractured in a runaway accident at noon yesterday, was progressing nicely. Jaffe, who is a driver for the National Dye works, was in the Lyceum livery stable blacksmith shop having some repairs made to his wagon. He left the shop for a moment and as he stepped into the alley at the rear he was knocked down by a runaway team hauling a Bridgeman-Russell wagon.
