

ARTISTS' IMPRESSIONS AT PYTHIAN CARNIVAL

Miss Louise Henning of the Lenox hotel, was voted queen of the Knights of Pythias carnival last night. She led her closest rival, Miss Rose Coran, by more than 20,000 votes.

The race was apparently dead-locked shortly before the polls closed when the winner's backers rallied to her support in a manner which left no doubt as to the result. Besides the mere honor of her victory Miss Henning was awarded a trip to the fair at San Francisco. Pythian officials announced that a check covering all her expenses for the journey, will be waiting for her this morning at the First National bank.

Friday's drizzly weather in no way affected the ardor of the large crowds at the carnival. All of the Allen shows were well patronized. It is estimated more than 3,000 paid admissions were registered last night.
