

LOCAL NOTES.

The next regular meeting of the Label League will be held Monday evening, October 24.

The Label League met Monday evening. Nothing important was transacted but the regular routine business.

The clerks will hold regular meeting Tuesday evening in the Hunter block. Every member is requested to be present.

Tommy Savard, who has been such an indefatigable worker in the interest of the waiters' union is now a member of the laundry workers' union. He is employed by the Globe laundry.

The Label League has a committee out agitating the use of the union label of the printing trades. The business men will be visited and requested to have the label placed upon all of their printed matter.

Julius Dworechak, who has been secretary of the Label League ever since its formation, handed in his resignation at the last meeting. Gus Wienberg was elected to fill out the unexpired term. Mr. Wienberg is a member of the Typographical union.

The Retail Clerks' union asks the public when purchasing goods to call for the working card of the clerk showing goods. All union clerks can show a working card. Ask for it, and if the clerk waiting on you cannot show his card go where one can.

The S. L. P. organized a section in West Superior last Sunday evening. National Organizer Keinard, of New York, was present and delivered a splendid address. Edward Kriz was also present and made a good talk. The section starts out with a good membership.

The visit of National Organizer Keinard, of the S. L. P., to Duluth will undoubtedly help the socialist cause in this city. The two meetings held were very well attended and close attention given the speaker. Edward Kriz, candidate for congress, also spoke. Mr. Kriz has the full confidence of organized labor in Duluth, and he made a good impression upon his hearers. We will not be surprised if Mr. Kriz rolls up a handsome vote for the cause of socialism in this district.

The cigarmakers' union, No. 294, is considering the advisability of sending a label agitator through the lumber camps during the coming season. This certainly would be a move in the right direction. The men who work in the lumber camps know little of the great benefits derived from the use of the union label and if their attention is called to this matter and it is placed before them in the right light, as No. 294 will do, there is little doubt but what the sturdy woodsman will give coab labor the go-by. The company store will be compelled to keep the blue label in sight or be unable to sell its goods.

The annual convention of the A. F. of Labor will be held at Kansas City in December. Already the delegates to the Trades Assembly are considering the advisability of sending a representative. The many friends of William E. McEwen, president of the Assembly, are anxious to see him go as a delegate from Duluth, and if the boys decide to be represented there Mr. McEwen no doubt will be the choice. He will represent organized labor of Duluth in a creditable manner. This section of the country has never been recognized by the national body in any way and it is essential that some one is sent who will present our wants if it be necessary. Why not have the next convention held in Duluth? Better try for it, anyway, and McEwen is the man to get the meeting here if it is possible.

Lind in Duluth.

John Lind, fusion candidate for governor, spoke at the Armory Tuesday evening to a packed house. His speech was a review of iniquitous condition of things existing in this state. He referred to the pine land steal, the faulty grain inspection law, the unjust freight rates charged the farmer and condemned the clique of Twin City politicians who control the state for their personal gain. Mr. Lind is a gentleman of mature years and wide experience. He is a pleasant talker and seems to understand the situation thoroughly. It is not probable that Mr. Lind will be elected governor owing to the overwhelming republican majority he has to overcome. If he should be fortunate enough, however, we have no doubt but what he will make one of the best, if not the best, governor Minnesota has ever had.

Private McEwen.

The funeral of Private John McEwen was held from the First Methodist church last Sunday. The largest concourse of people gathered at the church to do honor to the brave soldier boy, ever seen before in this city. The ceremonies were very affecting and impressive. The Trades Assembly attended in a body. The last sad rites were conducted by Company C, of which Private McEwen was a member.

The tin plate industry in this country gives employment to 35,000 persons. The manufacture also helps out other industries. It calls for 1,000,500 tons of iron ore, 300,000 tons of limestone, 2,000,000 tons of coal and coke, 400,000 tons of pig iron, 5,500,000 pounds of lead, 1,300,000 tons of tallow and oil, 4,000,000 pounds of sulphuric acid and 12,000,000 feet of lumber.

SUPERIOR.

Last Monday evening in the Trades Assembly hall a local branch of the International Amalgamated Meatcutters and Butcher Workmen's union was organized and the following temporary officers elected: President, Chas. Sturtz; financial secretary, Fred Anderson; recording secretary, William Knight; treasurer, Tony Metzger; sergeant-at-arms, George Sanders. A committee from the Duluth local butchers' union was present, and another meeting of the new union will be held Sunday afternoon in the Hammond block, at which time the charter membership will be closed. There are some thirty-five butchers and meatcutters in the city and it is expected to have them all join as charter members.

The unfair committee met Sunday morning and after hearing reports of committees it was decided to have a committee visit the grocers' association in favor of the coopers' union. The matter of the Duluth Brewing and Malting company was referred to the assembly delegates to the Duluth trades council for information.

The charter for the Boss Barbers' Protective union has not yet been sent for, but the bosses intend to organize whether they receive a charter or not. Let the good work go on.

If there are enough journeymen bakers in the city an effort will be made to induce them to form a local union.

Journeymen Plumbers' Local Union No 115 was represented in the Trades Assembly Tuesday evening by Messrs. Ramstead and Hudson.

At the time of calling the assembly meeting to order on Tuesday evening, President Parker did not have a very large attendance, but before the meeting closed nearly every chair was occupied.

The credentials of Fred Thorn of the cigarmakers' union, R. Hudson, Chas. Ramstead, Anton Anderson of the Journeyman Plumbers' union, and G. Weinberg of the Duluth Federated Trades council, were read and approved and delegates obligated.

The state of trade in nearly all branches was reported poor.

The assembly endorsed the action of the unfair committee in fining members 25 cents for non-attendance.

Messrs. Amley, Gardner and Royal were appointed to look after the barbers' grievance at Bannister's shop, and Messrs. Clyne, Amley and Ramstead to visit the Superior Plumbing & Heating company in the interest of the plumbers.

R. R. Hudson will represent the journeyman plumbers on the unfair committee.

J. S. Konkel has been elected as delegate to Duluth Federated Trades council.

Chicago Evening Lamp.

The best weekly paper we have ever seen for a family is the Chicago Evening Lamp. It is a large paper, containing ninety-six long columns of reading matter, each number of the paper having from thirty to one hundred illustrations. It contains a varied collection of matter suited to all tastes in the family, the contents of each issue including poetry, stories, fashions, biography, humor, cartoons, Talmage's sermon, international Sunday school lesson for the next Sunday, weekly news summary, recipes in cookery, information for farmers, gardeners, stockmen, beekeepers, and poultry raisers, latest discoveries in science and electricity, late inventions, new vocations for making money, etc. The price is $2 per year. Published by the A. N. Kellogg Newspaper company, at 71 Adams street, Chicago. Send three 2-cent stamps for a copy of the paper and see what a large quantity of attractive and useful reading matter you will get.

HISTORIC and DESCRIPTIVE Sketch of Some of the Business Firms of WEST SUPERIOR

Solle & Co., Hardware, Peninsular Stores. One of the best located stores for doing a large business is that of Solle & Co. whose line of goods includes heavy hardware, tinware, cutlery, bicycles, sporting goods, paints and varnishes. This store has been here thirteen years. The Peninsular store is their specialty this fall. It has a great reputation.

Henry & Vogel, General Blacksmithing. These gentlemen at 1712 Fifth street have been together for eight years engaged in general blacksmithing and horseshoeing. A specialty of their business is the making and repairing of tools. Stone cutters, ship carpenters, boiler-makers and all other workmen know that the quickest and cheapest way to get their tools in order is to send over to Henry & Vogel.

Williams & Buchanan, Livery Stable. At the corner of Fifth and Ogden streets is the sole stable of W. R. Williams who has lately been joined in business by Mr. Buchanan. Together they conduct a livery, feed and sale stable. They also deal in coal and wood, run a dry line and deal extensively in horses, of which they constantly have a number for sale. Call or telephone when you want a horse.

Bingham Bros., Sheet Metal Goods. The work of this firm at 522-524 Ogden avenue includes roofing and cornice work. They have been 10 years in this locality, and besides gravel and tin roofing make a specialty of heating and ventilating. They are giving particular attention this fall to air-tight heating.

Kommers Hotel, M. Folling, Proprietor. Three blocks from the Omaha depot is Kommers' hotel, having 45 rooms, and bar attached. This is a $1 a day house, but a special rate is made to regular boarders. Mr. Folling has been here during the past two years, the house steadily gaining in popularity. A pleasant feature will be frequent dances here during the coming winter.

Arnold & Schimmel, Heating and Ventilating. This firm, at 414 Banks avenue, are tin and iron roofers, have been ten years in business in West Superior and are well known. They are the agents for the best furnace, they claim, in the market and they invite parties wishing good heaters to come and see. They are heating and ventilating engineers and know what they are talking about.

Superior Iron and Metal Company. At 515 Second street S. L. Mark and S. Karon carry on a junk business which has been established here ten years. They buy scrap iron and all kinds of metals, and sell bar iron in all sizes. However ragged the children may become, the mother may always feel that she has the means of getting ready money, as this firm pays cash for rags. They pay the following prices: Wrought and cast iron, $8 per ton; brass, $8 a hundred; copper, $9 a hundred; lead, $3 a hundred; cotton rags, 50 cents a hundred; woolen rags, 6 cents a pound; quart bottles, 20 cents a dozen; pint bottles, 8 cents a dozen.

West Superior Bedding Company. The above is an important, growing manufactory in this city making mattresses, feather pillows, comforters, bedding and all grades of wire spring cots and cribs. They employ 15 hands at 801-903 Banks avenue, and one of the curiosities of the place is weaving of their wire mattresses. The rapidity with which this is done will astonish the visitor. They make their own excelsior, and use besides sea moss, hair and cotton. Their goods are being sold for hundreds of miles in various directions.

R. Edelstein & Co., Second Hand Goods. At 518 Tower avenue is the second hand furniture store of R. Edelstein & Co. Yet, while they deal in second hand goods they also keep a good assortment of new furniture. In the line of stoves, carpets and tinware they have a very full stock. Their specialty this fall is stoves, while they deal extensively in bed room sets. They invite any person having goods to sell to telephone them or send a postal and they will call.

The Beehive Bazaar, Dry Goods. It is not necessary to remind the people of this famous store. It has been here eight years, right through the good and bad times, and is here to continue selling dry goods, millinery, cloaks, carpets, wall paper and men's furnishing goods. This institution, which started in a small way in the beginning, now occupies a large double store at 325-327 Tower avenue.

Commercial Hotel, T. M. Leahy, Prop. One of the most popular and one of the best located hotels in this city is the Commercial. While it is a $2 a day house, theatrical people and regular boarders get such reasonable rates as to fill the 45 rooms of the house to overflowing, a large share of the time. The house has a bar attached and is located at the corner of Sixth street and Tower avenue, where the street cars pass every few minutes for Duluth, South Superior, the steel mills and Old Superior.

Lars Shaker, Jeweler. This gentleman, at 528 Tower avenue, deals in watches, clocks, diamonds and jewelry. Mr. S. claims to have lived here longer than any other jeweler, having begun here in 1887, on Third street. Those who want to buy a watch that will keep time, or a watch so repaired that it will last a life-time, should call upon Lars Shaker.

A. J. Winkels, Fine Furniture. At 515 Tower avenue is the extensive furniture and house furnishing establishment of A. J. Winkels. Besides himself Mr. W. keeps seven employes on the rush in sending out fine parlor furniture, chamber suits, office desks, chairs, mattresses, pictures, crockery, cooking utensils and window shades. His goods are all new, are very fine and yet low in price. While goods are superior, they are offered to the people on such terms as enables the customer to easily buy either on monthly payments or for cash.

J. L. Lamm Company, Wholesale Liquors. At 622-624 Tower avenue is the commodious store and extensive wholesale liquor house of the J. L. Lamm Company. This firm has been here eight years, and in that time has grown into an extensive wholesale liquor trade, including the Superior Club Rye, Great North-on Rye and Bourbon Whiskies. Aside from local trade, their sales extend widely into Michigan, Montana and the Dakotas.

Gust Huber, Jeweler. At 704 Tower avenue is Gust Huber, a first-class manufacturing jeweler, who learned his trade in Baden, in Germany. He came here six years ago, has established his business and has so mastered our language as to speak English very fluently. He manufactures all kinds of jewelry to order, sets diamonds and warrants all the watches he repairs. He has also a good stock of silverware and silver and gold rings.

Dr. J. W. Benton, Specialist Chronic Diseases. For twenty years a successful practitioner in medicine has been Dr. Benton. He is a reliable specialist in the treatment of chronic, private, nervous, skin and urinary diseases. A graduate originally from the Cincinnati Eclectic School of Medicine, he has traveled extensively, seen much of the world and thoroughly knows that in which he is a specialist. He has been here six years, his office being at 710 Tower avenue.

The Calumet Cigar Factory, At 820 Tower avenue, employs twelve workmen and manufactures strictly home-made cigars. Of course they have to import the tobacco leaf, which largely comes from Havana and makes the finest cigars. The war tax, combined with other revenue tax, compels the cigarmaker to pay 18 cents on a box of 500 cigars, a tax of 60 cents a thousand and a $6 tax on the business. In all the cigarmaker at present pays $8.60 on a box of cigars.

S. D. Seavey Company, Commission. At the corner of Winter street and Ogden avenue this firm does a large commission business in the sale of flour, feed, hay, grain, country produce, fruits, vegetables, maple sugar, sausage, etc. They have also the North Dakota Millers' association flour, which they invite the people to try. Three years here and doing large business.

James Orenstein & Co., Fur Goods. This institution does a large fur business at 1210 Tower avenue. They are practical furriers, and besides a specialty of repairing, altering and making new fur garments of all kinds, they carry a full line of ladies' and gentlemen's fur garments. The making new and the altering of plush garments is also one of their specialties. Their prices are reasonable. As winter goods are bulky, they invite people to phone or write them and they will call at the house.

Stack & Co., Department Store. Beginning in a small way this firm, under the control of Thomas H. Sullivan, managing partner, now occupies 1402, 1404, 1406 Tower avenue. Dry goods, crockery, tinware and general household furnishings goods being prominent. In all they have several departments, the store being crowded with goods and customers. The neat display and price cards, which reveal at once the cost of any article, are the work of John M. Sullivan one of the clerks in the store.

Superior Business University, Business Education. The seventh year of this widely known educational institution, under the management of O. E. Dunn, president of the college, began Sept. 6, 1898. This school has day and evening sessions and has no vacations. This enables the student to enter at any time and complete the course as convenient. While closely convenient to the business center, the building, admirably lighted, stands just away from the noise and bustle which distract attention. This is a model institution, fitting the student for the practical duties of life.

O'Sullivan & Fogarty, Florists. It will well pay anyone to go into the large, fine apartments of this firm and see their charming display of flowers, and the framework for any kind of floral design. They carry a large line of cacti, ferns and potted plants in stock, and supply others called for very quickly from their greenhouses. As civilization and wealth increase, so the florist prospers. We predict large success for this firm in Superior.

F. S. Roll, Confectioner, Soda Water. It so happens that some people, having a genuine taste for certain things, excel others in the same lines. This applies to Mr. Roll. While his confectionery is very fine, his soda water has a reputation that causes people to go a long distance to get a glass of it. Being but two doors from the opera house, it is the most natural thing to drop in at the close of an entertainment, as the people have been doing right here during the past eight years.

The Merchants Bank of Duluth, Established February 15th, 1898. Palladio Building.

The West Duluth Bank, West Duluth, Established September 10th, 1896.
