

QUIET HOME WEDDING

MISS FLORENCE SILBERSTEIN AND JACOB M. GIDDING MARRIED.

Affair a Quiet One and Takes Place
at Home of Bride's Parents—Mr. and Mrs. Gidding Leave on Extended Wedding Trip Before Going to Their Home in Bloomsberg, Pa.—Many Handsome Presents.

One of the prettiest home weddings of the entire winter season was that of Miss Florence Silberstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Silberstein, and Jacob M. Gidding, of Bloomsberg, Pa., at the home of the bride's parents at 6 o'clock last night. The marriage was a quiet one, witnessed only by the family and immediate relatives, but this did not detract in the least from the beauty of the event.

Green and white were the wedding colors and the house was handsomely decorated with smilax, white roses, white carnations, beautiful lilies, ferns and palms. The front parlor, in which the ceremony was performed, resembled a bit of fairyland. The walls were almost hidden from view, so profuse were the floral decorations, and in one corner was a magnificent canopy of smilax and white roses, and it was here that the wedding service was performed.

The ceremony, which was performed by Dr. Sigmund Frey, was very simple and short, in accordance with the wishes of both bride and groom. Miss Silberstein, accompanied by her father and sister, Miss Irene Silberstein, her maid of honor and only attendant, came down stairs just at 6 o'clock and were met in the parlor by Mr. Gidding and Edward A. Silberstein, his best man.

The bride's costume was a handsome white organdie over white silk, trimmed with Valenciennes lace, and pearl ornaments. In her hand she carried a large bunch of white bridal roses. Miss Irene Silberstein also wore white organdie over white silk. She wore no ornaments and carried a bunch of pink roses. Miss Silberstein and Mr. Gidding arranged themselves under the canopy and in a moment the words had been pronounced by Dr. Frey that made them one.

After a few moments spent in receiving congratulations the wedding party repaired to the dining room and an elaborate supper was served by Caterer Shelton. The decorations in the dining room were as beautiful and profuse as those in the parlor and over the table and running its whole length had been arranged a shower of subdued green and white electric lights that lent a pretty effect to the whole.

The guests at the wedding supper included the bridal party, the bride's parents and Mrs. A. Bondy, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Bondy, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Winterfield, Miss Fannie Weiss, of Denver; Mrs. George L. Ryan, of Tower; Miss Sadie Plechner, of St. Paul, and Robert Marcuse.

At the conclusion of the supper an hour was spent in social talk and at 11 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Gidding took the train for St. Paul. They will go from there to Detroit where a few days will be spent with the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Weiss. The bridal trip will be continued through New York, Baltimore, Washington, Norfolk, and Old Point Comfort and from there to Bloomsberg, where Mr. and Mrs. Gidding will reside and will be at home after April 20.

Mrs. Gidding has been the recipient of many congratulations and well wishes for her future from her many friends here, but at the same time they greatly regret that her marriage will take her away from her old home, for as Miss Silberstein she has been a Duluth girl. She was born here and has spent all the years of her life here and has a wide circle of friends.

Mr. Gidding is one of the most prominent merchants in Bloomsberg, one of the liveliest and most prosperous of Pennsylvania's cities.

The bridal couple received many handsome presents not only from Duluth, but from all parts of the country. One of the most valued was a congratulatory cablegram from Joseph Silberstein, the bride's uncle, in Budapest.
