PRESIDENT MONROE.

His Dismissal of a Guest Who Came With One Bill in His Pocket.

Down at Charlottesville, Va., one hears funny stories about President James Monroe, who would seem to have been an eccentric and irascible personage with a great reluctance to pay his debts. He had a fine house and a fine farm called Montpelier, which is in sight of the trains on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, and a plain granite shaft, which marks his tomb, is visible from the highway. Mr. Monroe was not a "gentleman" as that term is applied in Virginia. His ancestry did not belong to the aristocracy, and although he was an educated man, a lawyer of recognized ability, a legislator and politician of reputation, he never was admitted to the chosen circle of the "F. F. V."

One of the stories relates to a lawyer who went over to Montpelier during the latter years of Mr. Monroe's life to arrange for the settlement of a number of notes which had drifted into the hands of a Charlottesville bank. Most of them represented borrowed money, but several had been given for property or merchandise purchased.

The lawyer was a man of high social and professional standing and Mr. Monroe appeared to be greatly pleased at his visit. They spent the morning upon the piazza, smoking and chatting over the affairs of the nation, and after a hospitable dinner took a walk about the place. As they returned to the mansion the lawyer remarked in an apologetic manner that "he must not forget his duty in the abundance of his enjoyment, and handed Mr. Monroe a statement of several notes, the interest due, the dates of maturity and so forth. He made a polite speech in explanation and said that his client, the bank which held the paper, hoped that Mr. Monroe would be able to give some satisfaction.

"I'll give you satisfaction right here and now," exclaimed the indignant ex-president. "You infernal scoundrel! You invade my home and eat my dinners and drink my wine with a lot of due bills in your pocket," and, seizing a riding whip which hung from a rack in the hall, he began to lay it over the head and shoulders of the astonished attorney.—Chicago Record.

DULUTH Labor Notes.

Late this week the secretary received the following credentials of delegates elected to the State Federation of Labor: Minneapolis—Allied Printing Trades council—W. T. Drake; Duluth—Butchers' union—W. Tunell; Rochester—Cigarmakers—M. J. Dunphy; Minneapolis—Dress Makers—Mary Eagen, Katie Conroy.

The Plumbers held a regular meeting Thursday evening at which considerable business was transacted. Two new members were initiated and a committee was appointed to present the rules to a certain master plumber for his signature. Another committee was appointed to meet a like committee of the Carpenters and endeavor to patch up their misunderstanding. It is expected that when they get together that no plumbers will work with non-union carpenters. W. E. McEwen was elected to represent the Plumbers at the State Federation of Labor.

The Building Trades council met in regular session Thursday evening and transacted a great deal of business. All the unions reported that their men were working and that the union was in good condition. On account of a present shortage of funds the Business Agent was laid off for a short period. The sixth assessment for the Chicago lockout was ordered paid. C. L. Higgins, of the Electrical Workers' union, was elected delegate to Red Wing.

The Freight Handlers' union have elected the following officers for the ensuing year: John McDonald, president; Louis Bye, vice president; E. A. Barr, recording secretary; F. Willett, financial secretary; and Ole Nelson, treasurer. John McDonald was elected delegate to Red Wing.

While people are discussing the strike situation in the various crafts, but few without a strike. The tailors' union, on the first of May, asked for and received without any difficulty, an advance in prices, which amounts to from 10 to 25 per cent.

If you want to keep in touch with labor's side of the economic struggle you should read the Labor World. Subscribe for it. It costs but $1.00 per year.

Dr. Cullum has removed his dental parlor to the top floor of the New Jersey block.

The Longshoremen's union will meet tonight. Business has not been very good in their line on account of a rate war which is now on between the vesselmen and the shippers.

The Building Trades council held a special meeting last Friday evening and discussed the strike situation thoroughly. It was resolved to stay by the carpenters until their controversy was settled.

FAVOR J. G. MILLER'S CANDIDACY.

Railroad Men Endorse Him for Commissioner.

The railroad men of the Sixth district seem to be quite urgent in their demands that J. G. Miller of Two Harbors be nominated by the Republicans for a railroad commissioner. The members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Missabe division, No. 335, have endorsed Mr. Miller's candidacy. Brainerd division No. 197, of the Order of Railway Conductors, has taken similar action.

COMPLAINT AGAINST A TUG.

The J. D. McFadden Running With-out a Licensed Engineer.

Complaint was filed in the offices of Steamboat Inspectors Monaghan and Chalk yesterday by Michael Ryan of the Tugmen's association, that the tug J. D. McFadden has been running without a licensed engineer. James Magee is the owner of the vessel.

It is understood that Magee has been unable to get a licensed engineer because he does not belong to the Tugmen's association. Nearly all the engineers belong to the association and will not work under a captain who does not. The inspectors will consider the case.

FRATERNITIES.

THE MODERN SAMARITANS.

Alpha Council No. 1.

The regular meeting of Alpha Council No. 1 was held in Elk's hall on Wednesday evening last. There was a large attendance of the members and G. S. Henderson conducted nine candidates safely from Jerusalem to Jericho, the ritualistic work being exemplified on William McCarthy, who created considerable amusement for the members. The general in-keeper, D. A. Cone, introduced a striking novelty which was well received. A special committee of ten was appointed to circulate subscription sheets for tickets for a high-class benefit concert to be given at the Lyceum the latter part of June, with instructions to report at the next meeting. The secretary of the base ball team announced that the team, from Alpha Council No. 1 would meet the team of Beta No. 2 in deadly conflict at the Fair grounds on Decoration day. As both teams are somewhat green, considerable amusement is expected for those who attend.

Neighbor Ash, of Nicollet Council No. 11, Minneapolis, entertained the council with some of his popular whistling solos. In addition to the nine candidates initiated, 19 applications were received, and a large class is expected for the next meeting.

Beta Council No. 2.

The lady friends of the Beta council members took possession of the hall on Thursday evening, it being the regular Ladies' night. There was a large attendance of the members and their lady friends, and a first-class musical entertainment was contributed by the following: Messrs. Johnson and Prytz in song; Miss Norton and Miss Johnson, piano solos; recitations by Miss Riley and Mr. Hoffman; violin solo by Mr. A. Blewett; and a mouth organ duet by the Peterson brothers, accompanied by Miss Stevenson on the piano, which was most enthusiastically received. After the musical program a bountiful lunch was served, and the company adjourned to the large hall where dancing was indulged in until the small hours of the morning, to the music of Blewett Bros. orchestra. The whole entertainment was a complete success, and a number of applications were received from those desiring to participate in the social features of the council, which from now on will probably be open to the members of the Order and their lady friends.

A base ball contest will take place between the teams of Beta Council No. 2 and Alpha Council No. 1 of the Modern Samaritans, at the Fair grounds on Decoration day, at 3 p. m. Judging from the strenuous efforts being put forth by the two teams, the hottest game ever played on the West End diamond is promised.

ARRANGING FOR MEMORIAL DAY.

Spanish-American War Veterans to Have Charge.

The arrangements for the entertainment to be given on the afternoon of Decoration day at the Armory by Camp McEwen No. 46 of the Spanish American war veterans are being rapidly perfected and an excellent program will be given. The program will begin at 2:30 in the afternoon and every one is invited to be present. The G. A. R. men are to be the guests of the young veterans and seats will be reserved so the old soldiers may attend in a body.

C. A. Towne will be the orator of the day. Mayor Hugo will preside at the meeting and will give a few words of greeting. F. A. Barnard will speak on the G. A. R. and City Comptroller McCormick, a member of the camp, will give a short talk on the order of the Spanish-American War veterans. Dr. T. H. Cleland and L. N. Case will also speak. George Tyler and Miss Louisa Chalk yesterday and Guy Williams, Mrs. Margaret Hoelcher and Albert Hoelcher will render instrumental selections. There will also be a couple of numbers by a quartette.

HARBOR MASTER'S POWER.

Something About Chief Crandall's Newly Acquired Authority.

At the meeting of the council Monday evening Chief of Police Crandall was appointed harbor master at a salary of $900 a year. Duluth has not had a harbor master since 1892, in which year the office was discontinued, not by ordinance, but simply by failure of the council to appoint. The police department has no supervision over the harbor.

There was an objection by some of the aldermen that the salary for the extra work necessary was too large, and that the chief of police should perform the duties without compensation. But according to the ordinance prescribing the harbor master's duties, the office is far from being the sinecure some people suppose.

The ordinance gives the harbor master general care and supervision of all navigable waters within the city, including all waters in the slips upon the land side of the dock lines, but opening into public waters. He is instructed to inspect frequently the wharves, docks and piers, and keep an account of all public docks, bridges and structures that may be damaged or improperly used. He shall also make diligent efforts to collect such information as may lead to the conviction of all offenders against the provisions of the law, and shall make complaint to the municipal court. The harbor master is authorized to give such orders and directions for the location and change of places of vessels in the harbor as may be necessary to secure good order and the equal safety and convenience of all vessels, and masters are obliged to obey under penalty. He may also order any sunken vessel or cargo of any kind to be raised and removed, if he believes it to be an impediment to navigation. The penalty for infraction of the harbor master's orders is not to exceed a fine of $100 or 60 days in jail.

JUST LOCAL NOTION

THAT OF USING TWO TUGS TO TOW BOATS.

Assoc. Michael Ryan of Tugmen's Belong Nation Says Idea Does Not But That's National Organization Requirements Local Tugmen Know Conditions Here. Necessary to Fit

The local branch of the Licensed Tugmen's association met Tuesday attempting to use two tugs to tow Matanzas into port, as it was generally supposed. The tug men had some other business before them.

Michael Ryan, president of the national association, said last night that the rule to use two tugs on certain boats is not a rule of the Licensed Tugmen's Association of the Great Lakes and is not recognized by that organization. It seems that this rule was established by members of the local branch, but has now been abandoned.

Mr. Ryan wished it understood that he is not criticizing the local branch of the association when he says that such a rule is not recognized by the national association, for, he says, the local tugmen know what the local conditions and requirements are. He wishes it understood also that there is no controversy on between the association and the managers of the tugs.

For the reason that it was not an association matter there is nothing to go before the grievance committee and the incident, so far as the tugmen are concerned, is closed, although they maintain that in many cases two tugs are necessary to insure safety.

The Davidson fleet, to which the barge Matanzas belongs, is to be towed by the Maytham tugs at this point hereafter. Maytham tugs have been doing the towing for the Davidson fleet at Buffalo for some time.

Yesterday the Matanzas was towed from No. 5 coal dock in Superior to the Mesaba ore dock by two Maytham tugs.

Fish For Beaver Bay.

When the Booth liner Dixon pulled out yesterday she had a cargo of fish aboard—live ones. Superintendent Wires of the United States Fish Hatchery shipped to Beaver Bay 280,000 young lake trout to be liberated upon the spawning beds in that vicinity. The day was hot and the boat late in starting, and Mr. Wires had to do some lively hustling to get ice to put in the cans to reduce the temperature of the water to a degree compatible with the health and comfort of the fish.

FORWARDED TO KRUGER.

Duluth Beer Resolutions and Flag Heard From.

The people that attended the mass meeting at the Armory last February to espouse the cause of the Boers, will be interested to learn that the resolutions which were adopted on that occasion and the Boer flag which was forwarded to President Kruger, have been heard from through C. N. Saerchoten, charge d'affaires at Brussels.

He has written in the absence of Dr. W. J. Leyds, thanking the president, J. W. Reynolds, and M. H. McMahon, secretary of the Duluth mass meeting for the sentiments expressed in the resolutions and for the flag. He says that the flag and the papers have been forwarded to President Kruger.

AKRON, O., May 22.—All the potters in this city including 500 men or more on strike today for higher wages and practically all of the potteries here are shut down.

Sarcasm.—Myer—Have you noticed that a lot of new houses are being put up all over the city?
Gyer—Yes, and I've been wondering why they don't put up a few old ones just for a change.
