VIRGINIA, JULY 25--

Never before in the history of this city has there been the equal of the wedding ceremony and feast as was witnessed at the opera house Sunday afternoon and evening when Miss Lillian Mesberg, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mesberg, was united in wedlock to James Lavick, of Duluth, but who has made his home in this city for the past few weeks. So large an assemblage of Jewish people has never been together at one time in the city. Guests were here from Duluth, Superior, St. Paul, Chicago and all the range towns, and many are here yet, but will leave for their respective homes during the day.

The wedding procession was formed in the parlors of the Virginia club. To the strains of a wedding march, rendered by Meehan's orchestra, the principals, attended by their parents and bridesmaids and best men, entered the hall and advanced to the center, where, under the canopy and amid palms and ferns the vows were repeated by the two young people, the ceremony being performed by Rabbi L. Wyner, of Eveleth. The ring bearers were the little Misses Evelyne Shanedling and Tutu Greenblatt, the daughter of Henry Greenblatt, of Hibbing. The bridesmaids were Misses Clara Belond, of Milwaukee, Nellie Lavick and Eva Casmir of Duluth, and Celia Milavetz of Eveleth, and the best men were George Mesberg of Eveleth, J. Sax of Hibbing, Benj. Lippmann of Buhl, and Samuel Lavick of Duluth.

After the ceremony those who had charge of the wedding supper made ready for the large number of invited guests. After all the guests had been served the floor was cleared and the grand march, which was walked through by all present, was the signal to begin the evening's dancing, and this pleasure was indulged in until the early hours of Monday morning. During the evening telegrams were received from friends of the bride and groom, these missives being read from the stage by Attorney Griggs. At the finish of each there were rounds of applause.

Mrs. Lavick, the bride, has lived in this city with her parents for ten years, and during this time has gained the friendship of the entire community. The groom, while being in the city for a few weeks, has made many friends.
