

DINNER GIVEN BY MR. AND MRS. ZEIN

Mr. and Mrs. Sternberg and
Mr. and Mrs. Metzger
Guests of Honor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Zein, of 131 East Second street, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sternberg and Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. Metzger, of St. Paul, at one of the handsomest private dinners ever given at the Spalding, last night.

At half past eight, the repast in ten courses was served; for an hour before that, beautifully gowned women promenaded the hall and parlor listening to the music of Flaaten's orchestra, and the conversation of their escorts. An informal reception had made the guests known to the guests of honor.

The table was set in the dining room, extending the entire length of the room. At each end a large cut glass vase of American Beauties was placed and in the center, Mrs. Zein's cut glass lamp, reflected electric light. On either side of the lamp was a bed of American Beauties, six feet long and eighteen inches wide; connecting the whole were ropes of smilax and green chiffon, and red rose petals were scattered on the cloth. The crowning touch of beauty was in the dozens of tiny red, green and white electric light bulbs which were twined into the smilax and peeped from among the flowers.

A long line of palms extending on either side of the table enclosed the diners after they were seated. An involuntary exclamation of pleasure burst from the guests when the room was thrown open for their reception. The orchestra played a program of sixteen numbers and covers were laid for eighty guests. Mrs. Zein wore a gown of white mull made over a lace underdress; Mrs. Metzger wore white and lace, and Mrs. Sternberg had on a dress of eyelet embroidery. Those present were: Mrs. Fanny Mondschine, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marcuse, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kohn, Mrs. I. Freimuth, Mrs. L. R. Bondy, Mr. and Mrs. S. I.
