The "Joshua Simpkins" company with a fine brass band and splendid orchestra, will be seen at the Fay Opera House, Saturday, Sept. 7. The play is made of fun and realism combining the pleasing features of realistic melodrama and the ever popular rural play. The character sketches are said to be very clever while there is an abundance of good music, singing and dancing in it. Those lovable old country characters are introduced and their sayings and doings create much amusement. The company comes to us recommended as a good one throughout. The saw mill scene in the third act is said to be wonderfully realistic, a genuine circular saw being seen in motion, with Uncle John's son lashed to a log by the villain and started toward the glittering teeth of the rapidly revolving saw.

"Panama," a tale of the great canal, is the title of the new big melodramatic success. The play tells a delightfully clean story, full of life and action, the comedy being irresistible. The scenic equipment is particularly elaborate and extensive and true to that part of the country around which the play is written. Local theatre-goers will await with interest the coming of this attraction at the Fay Opera House.
