

HONOR PUPILS ARE ANNOUNCED

Girls of High School Pull Down Practically all the Laurels.

Yesterday morning at the chapel exercises of the High school Principal Smith announced the names of the pupils who have the distinction of being on the honor roll.

Miss Helen McKinley headed the list as the pupil having the highest average in all studies for the last three and one half years ending with the work of the last semester. The list according to standings is as follows: Helen McKinley, Edith Miller, Lydia Johnson, Siebel Harris and Edward Cole, these five constituting the honor roll, but as is customary the names of the next seven in order of standing are also given with honorary mention.

These are Jessie Johnson, Helen Potter, Frank Boerner, Lucile Bradley, Gertrude Hoopes and the last place is held by Winnifred Mahon, Annie Hugo and Harriet Stryker whose standings are the same.

The names of the twelve honor pupils will be published in the Zenith and will also receive special recognition on the program of graduation night.

Previous to last year it was customary for the five honor pupils to give the orations on graduation night, but hereafter it will be left to the faculty to choose those who give the orations.

AMERICAN COMPOSERS FILL THE PROGRAM

The program given by the Matinee Musicale yesterday afternoon at Steinway hall was devoted to American composers. Miss Mae Wylie and Miss Ethelyn Fee arranged the program which was representative in its selections and most enjoyably rendered.

The opening number was MacDowell's "Sonata Tragica," played by Miss Eva Metcalfe, and followed by the Clough-Leiter Song Cycle "A Love Garden," sung by Mrs. C. P. Craig. Miss Elizabeth Morton gave a nocturne by Tanning. George Sufel sang "The Myrtle and the Steel," by Lewis Browne and Miss Maud Wolford played MacDowell's "Scotch Poem." Mrs. Emily Ellis Woodward closed the program with a group of songs by Gerritt, Smith, Chadwick and Laug.

The Shakespeare reading club of the First Christian church will meet this evening at the home of Miss Edith Blackwood of 517 Third avenue East, when the study of the "Merchant of Venice" will be continued. A number of new members have recently been enrolled and much interest has been shown in the work, the meetings all having been well attended.

IN DULUTH SHOPS.

A unique way of showing the styles of the spring has been chosen by one of the shops in putting dresses made of tissue paper on the models in the window. There are suits, gowns and dresses for the little ones.

Lawns in cluster stripes are to be much worn, set up on skeleton princess lines, over guimpes and sleeves of white lawn honey-combed with lace.

New 1907 wash fabrics include real French organdie lisse, which is a very sheer fabric printed with pompadour roses, printed Irish dimities in Dolly Varden effects and lovely tinted batistes.

The neck ruchings give such a dainty and soft finish to the waists, and a box of them in all the soft colors may be purchased for $1 at one of the department stores.
