

decorated with red and green. Poinsettias and holly were massed on mantels and stairways and Christmas bells swung from the doorways.

The first of the local 1912 weddings was celebrated Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Randall, 4601 Magellan street, when their daughter, Clara Alice, became the bride of Josiah Jackson Roberts, of Keewatin, Mich.

Rev. W. B. Emory, pastor of the Merritt Memorial church, read the service. Mrs. Freeman K. Randall was matron of honor and Miss Vera Rockwell was bridesmaid. The wedding march was played by Miss Clyde Potts and the vows were exchanged in a small arbor set in one corner of a room fragrant with carnations and roses.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Bradford, 706 West Fourth street, was the scene Monday of the marriage of Miss Annabel Flesch of Virginia and George M. Bradford. Rev. E. K. Copper read the Methodist bridal service. Miss Waelpha Bradford was bridesmaid and Ben Underhill attended the bridegroom. The bride's beautiful gown was of white voile over satin. A party of 40 was entertained in the handsomely appointed rooms of the Bradford house after the ceremony. In the evening, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Bradford left for their future home in Virginia.

Miss Josephine B. Dally, daughter of Asa Dally, was married at Minneapolis, Thursday, to Harry A. Monohan. Mr. and Mrs. Monohan will reside in Minneapolis.

Tomorrow morning at the Sacred Heart cathedral, Miss Loretta Shannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Shannon of 325 West Fourth street, will become the bride of Bernard Enoc Hogan, of Banning, Ont.

Tuesday Miss Lena Azine became the bride of William H. Glass, of Hancock, Mich. Mrs. Glass is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Azine, of 314 East First street. Rabbi W. Kissin, of Adash Israel synagogue, performed the ceremony at the synagogue. Miss Ada Azine was maid of honor and the bridesmaid was Miss Bessie Horwitz, of Hancock. D. J. Azine attended the bridegroom. Mendel Glass acted as usher. A party of eight was entertained at a dance and supper at the old Masonic Temple, for which music was furnished by La Brosse's orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. Glass, after a short trip through the east, will be at home at Hancock.

Miss Sophia Caplov and Nathan S. Garber, both of this city, were married New Year's eve at the Synagogue, Third avenue east and Third, after which dinner was served for 300 guests at Steinway hall. Among the 50 out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Aaronson, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin, Miss Benjamin, Miss Dora Aronson, Miss Fanny Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. M. Kronick, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kronick and daughter Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Nathanson and Miss F. Kohn, all from the Twin Cities; Mr. and Mrs. H. Caplov, Mrs. I. Lieberman, Jeanette and Arnold Lieberman, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. George Mesberg, Mr. Harry Lavant, Eveleth; Nathan Nides, Mrs. J. Cohn and daughter, Hibbing. After Jan. 21, Mr. and Mrs. Garber will be at home at 221 East Third street.

WEDDINGS

The wedding of James Carson Agnew of this city and Miss Margaret McLaren Edwards, of Santa Barbara, Cal., is thus recorded in the Santa Barbara Independent:

"The society event of the holiday season was the wedding of Miss Margaret McLaren Edwards and James Carson Agnew which took place at the Presbyterian church at 8:30 o'clock Thursday night. Hundreds of invitations had been issued for the occasion and the spacious church was a vision of floral beauty.

A canopied, canvas-covered aisle, flanked with cypress boughs, extended from the street to the main entrance of the church. The vestibule was lined with cypress boughs and swinging high over head was a great bell of holly berries.

The interior decorations were carried out in red and green. Great feathery ropes of evergreen outlined the window arches and hung suspended from the chandeliers. Pillars were wreathed in green sprinkled with holly berries and the wide aisle was further marked with sweeps of white satin ribbon caught with knots of holly.

The pulpit was transformed into an exquisitely contrived chapel with floral altar and chancel outlined with great green arches. From the center arch and directly over the altar was suspended a gigantic bell of white roses. Pendant from the smaller arches were large green bells with pepper berry clappers. A lavish arrangement of tall spruce boughs formed an admirable background for the floral altar and suspended bells.

A musical program was rendered by the organist. The bridal procession formed in the vestibule and marched slowly down the aisle. The ushers were John S. Edwards, James M. Warren, Carl Edwards. Royal Austin and Archie Edwards.

The little flower girls, Josephine Izard, Sallie Gane, Rosamund Eddy and Frederica Gane were dressed in dainty white and each carried a long-handled basket filled with holly berries. A vested choir of 14 boys led by Thornton and Lester Wagner and each carrying a red hymnal, entered singing "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden." As they took their station on the altar, the ladies' choir in the gallery began the bridal chorus from Lohengrin and Mrs. John Edwards, matron of honor, entered, herself a bride of only a few months. Mrs. Edwards wore white embroidered in silver and carried a sheaf of American beauty roses.

Miss Edwards chose as her bridesmaid, Miss Blanchard Scott, a chum whose friendship dates back to childhood. Miss Scott is the daughter of Colonel Hugh L. Scott, former commander of West Point. She was gowned in a simple white marquisette trimmed in lace.

The bride followed leaning on her father's arm. She wore a gown of white satin messaline and embroidered chiffon with pearl trimming. The long veil floated from a bandeau over the full length of the train. She carried a bouquet of orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

The groom with his brother, W. C. Agnew as best men, met the bride and her father under the big rose bell and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Warren D. More, pastor of the Presbyterian church.

The ceremony was followed by a supper and informal reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Edwards of Santa Barbara street. The spacious home was

The wedding of Miss Lena Azine to William Howard Glass of Hancock, Mich., took place Tuesday evening at the Jewish synagogue, Rabbi Kissen of St. Paul, officiating. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the old Masonic temple, at which a large number of guests were entertained.

The bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed with Irish point lace. Her veil was arranged in the form of a Juliet cap trimmed with a wreath of lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Edythe Azine, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Esther Kremen of Houghton, Mich., was bridesmaid. Mr. Glass was attended by David J. Azine of Houston, Texas and Mandel Glass. The flower girls were Ida Azine and Theresa Glass.

Mr. and Mrs. William Glass left for an eastern trip and will be at home at Hancock, Mich., after Jan. 15.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Morris Glass of Ahmeek, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Berger and children, Edith and Joe of Winnipeg, Man.; Miss Esther Kremen of Houghton, Mich.; Mandel Glass of South Range, Mich.; Miss Sara Shere of Akelee, Minn.; Albert Lieberman of Watertown, Wis.; David and John Azine of Houston, Tex., and Mrs. Polson of St. Paul, Minn.

On Jan. 2nd, Miss Hazel I. Schinkel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schinkel, of Solon Springs, Wis., and Chas. B. Sutliff, of Detroit, Mich., were united in marriage. Mr. Sutliff is a well known mining engineer. Mr. and Mrs. Sutliff will be at home in Solon Springs, Wis.