NORTH SIDE SCHOOL WILL IMPROVE DISTRICT FACILITIES

Architect E. W. Collins, representing MacLeod-Smith, the Duluth contractors, who are erecting the new North Side school, expects to have the structure ready for use by next month. The building was to have been ready November 1st, but lack of materials retarded the contractors and they were granted a time extension by the school board.

The school will be ready for use for the second semester and will fill a long felt want on the North Side, as the present school is overcrowded and the students are forced to accept half-day sessions and be sent to other school buildings throughout the city. With the opening of the new school, the North Side faculty will be increased. Supt. Bliss is now in communication with many competent teachers and will have his selections made by next month. Miss Anderson, of the present North Side school, will be in charge of the new building.

The school will be furnished with a branch library and will have all the conveniences enjoyed by the other schools of the city. The building is modern throughout and affords every convenience for study. The building is being erected at a cost of $60,000 and will give Virginia its fourth modern school structure. The new school is three stories high and has ten rooms, exclusive of the manual training and domestic science departments.

MacLeod-Smith, the Duluth contractors, who are also erecting the Central avenue library, will embody many of the ideas they have used in their other range school buildings in the North Side school. The school is to be formally accepted by the school board next month and the final estimates for the work will be made at that time. Contractor James Smith, of the contracting firm, inspected the work recently, while his partner, A. E. MUCH INTEREST IS BEING TAKEN IN THE AUTOMATIC TELEPHONE

According to J. C. Crowley, Jr., manager of the Peoples Telephone company, Superior, Wis., who is in charge of the automatic telephone demonstration at the Matheson Block, much interest is being taken in the telephone. A list of the names of the visitors at the telephone demonstration is being compiled and will be published soon. A ladies day will be held next week with J. E. Fisher, of the Chicago Automatic Electric company, in charge of the demonstration.

Mr. Fisher arrived in the city Wednesday evening from Chippewa Falls, Wis., where he has been demonstrating the telephone. An independent telephone company is engaged in business in the Wisconsin city and recently changed from a manual system to the automatic telephone system. While at Chippewa Falls Mr. Fisher had various physical classes test his telephone and while here he will arrange to have the members of the physical class of the local high school attend the demonstration.

At a meeting of the officers and incorporators of the Range Telephone company in the Matheson Block, the matter of having the Duluth-Virginia toll line connected over either the Vermillion or Miller Trunk road will be decided, as will the matter of presenting a copy of the franchise desired for twenty-five years to the local council at the next Tuesday meeting of the aldermen. The new company desires a twenty-five year franchise and will also grant the city permission to take over the plant in five years if desired.

The new company will furnish telephones between this city and Duluth, and arrangements are now being made to induce various agricultural settlements along the country road to build a short toll system to the proposed main line of the new company. Farmers at Kelsey have built a line from their settlement to the White Face river over a distance of twelve miles, and according to all reports are well pleased with the arrangement.

The promoters of the new line contend their phone will work a benefit rather than a hardship to range telephone patrons by giving lower rates and better service. The automatic telephone was first demonstrated in 1896 and is now being used in many countries.

LOCAL BOWLING ALLEYS AGAIN OPENED

The local bowling season was reopened for the season on Saturday last, when the Lusk & Sigel alleys were again put in commission, being entirely refold since the fire which destroyed the old alleys shortly after Christmas of last year. The Mohamli Club alleys have also been put in commission for the season, and many Mohamli-City games are in prospect, while several teams from other range points are already clamoring for games. The Mohamli management is already arranging games with the Hibbing Oliviers and other teams, and Manager Peter Morin, of the Hibbing team, was in the city Saturday in consultation with local managements regarding a schedule of games between teams from the two towns. IRON RANGE ROAD AID IN ROAD BUILDING

According to a new schedule of rates issued this week, the Iron Range road has greatly reduced its rates of road materials. The Soo and the Northern Pacific roads have also lowered their rates on gravel and stone to be used in building roads, while the Great Northern road will issue a schedule of rates next week. The Iron Range road has lowered its freight rate on road materials to 20 cents per ton for 30 miles, while the Soo and the Northern Pacific lines have decreased their rates to 30 cents for a ton hauled thirty miles. This action of the railroads is being generally commended as it will assist the counties in building more highways.

Local automobilists are also taking much interest in the efforts of the commercial and civic bodies of Duluth and the Twin Cities to obtain a new highway from Minneapolis to the head of the lakes. Many of the smaller counties of the state, such as Pine and Chisago, would be required to assist in the movement, and accordingly the civic bodies of the three largest cities interested in the project will soon start a campaign to induce the counties to assist in the work. Sandstone, one of the cities to be reached by the new highway, has gone on record as in favor of the new highway, and the promoters of the new road are receiving much support throughout the state.
