AN EFFECTIVE COLLAR FOR A SIMPLE BLOUSE

There is a mediaeval suggestion about this bit of neckwear which is more like some of the collar effects worn in Shakespearean plays than like the Robespierre and Directoire collars recently exploited. The collar proper combines a pointed cap and a high, Medici collar, attached at the top of the cape, and both cape and collar meet just short of the centre front over a pleated jabot of lawn and lace. This type of collar is becoming to women to whom the very open Robespierre neckpiece is trying. The little velvet ties at the top may be black or any becoming color. In this instance the ties match a trottier frock of dark green perle material—the lustrous and silky weave or mohair with worsted.

was served in place of punch. The affair was elaborately planned and perfectly carried out and the entire evening was one of delightful and enjoyable surprises. The idea of a circus cotillion was a novel one and Mr. Montgomery is to be highly congratulated upon the capable and graceful way in which he took charge, insuring the success of the entire affair. A large number of out-of-town guests were present and were entertained at the homes of Fargo young people.

Mrs. J. M. Johnson of Tenth street south gave a delightful party to her friends and neighbors on Tuesday afternoon when she entertained thirty-five ladies in honor of her daughter, Miss Victoria Johnson, who is to be married to Mr. Robert Johnson of the city. The guests were numbered from among Mrs. Johnson's most intimate friends and the Johnson home was very beautifully decorated in holiday decorations throughout, a profusion of poinsettias being used in the parlor and dining rooms. The dining room was a perfect bower of Christmas greens and red carnations. The afternoon was spent in a happy and social chat and was concluded with several interesting contests. The winning party was Mrs. Bowman and Mrs. C. B. Hicks favored the guests with several delightful solos which were most enthusiastically received. At 5:30 an elegant lunch was served after which the guests departed with many feelings of happy new year. Mrs. Johnson is spending several weeks with her parents and Mr. Johnson was their Christmas guest. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have moved from their farm near Bedford and Mr. Johnson has entered the sheriff's office in

At the close of the evening nice refreshments were served.

The engagement is announced in The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin of Miss Agnes Louise Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wagner of St. Louis, Mo., and granddaughter of Gen. Louis Wagner, to Lieut. Elmer Franklin Wagner, who is a former Fargo resident of this city. Lieut. Wagner is a member of the St. Louis club and grew to manhood here. He has been engaged to himself in army circles at the point and is now serving of the leading social event of Philadelphia society.

Last evening Miss Elmer Euren of Moorhead and her brother, Halmer Euren, gave a delightful party to about twenty-five friends from Fargo and Moorhead. The company was taken out about 7:30 in two automobiles and the party was taken until 10 o'clock, when they were taken to the Euren home on Tenth street north. Moorhead was a large five-course supper was served from two tables at which the guests were seated in family style. Beautiful holiday decorations made the diningroom attractive and on the tables red and green candles carried out the general scheme. After supper the guests went to the parlor, where, hanging from the chandeliers and on the walls, each to which strings were attached, and each was requested to follow up after the supper. The party was New Year's gifts, more or less appropriate, were discovered attached to the end of the strings. A large young lady is said to have "traveled" through the downstairs rooms, upstairs and all about the house, and finally located a huge box in which was a diamond ring. Music by the Euren family, who make up a splendid orchestra, was greatly enjoyed by the guests who were conveyed to their homes in the automobiles.

The crowning event of the holiday season was the splendid party given by the young ladies of the city in charge, was the seventh annual holiday ball, given in the city of Knights of Columbus ball room, although the parties given this season have been more than usual. The ball was a very successful evening is conceded to be the most elaborate and beautiful of the entire season. The ball was held at the center was a large American flag. Hostesses and hosts of the evening were Mrs. M. A. Hildreth, Lucile Bristol, Katharine Wheelock, Zella Jacobson and Allice Lewis. The program was very attractive and the music was given by Lawrence, Melvin Hildreth, Paylock, Jack Farrand and Krohn Herbet. The orchestra was directed by Mrs. M. A. Hildreth, Mrs. E. H. Beck and Mrs. F. A. Bristol. The evening's program was delightfully laid out, the informal and result was that the guests to become acquainted, and the hours from 9 o'clock until 10:45, when the supper was served. The guests were seated at long tables and covers were laid for 110. Following supper the guests were in the ballroom again and were in the middle of a waltz when Howard Montgomery, in a white tuxedo, appeared and bowed his white and the music stopped. He announced that the ball was a success and that the Knights of Columbus were giving a performance in honor of the seventh annual ball of the Annus club. Jupiter, who was really an excellent dancer, worked in response to wires to men and wearing all of the trappings of the ball, appeared on the stage, then appeared and was greeted with loud applause. He went through several very clever stunts, and ended by passing markers on a tray for the first figure. Favors were cards marked with King-Lynn Upham Stambaugh. A very pretty figure was given to the Annus club, Melvin Davis Hildreth and Lynn Upham Stambaugh. A very pretty figure was given to the Annus club, Melvin Davis Hildreth and Lynn Upham Stambaugh. HOW TO MAKE BETTER COUGH SYRUP THAN YOU CAN BUY

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home with nothing that takes hold of an obstinate cough more quickly, usually ending it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for croup, whooping cough, sore lungs, asthma, hoarseness and other throat troubles. Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 3 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents worth) in a pint bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

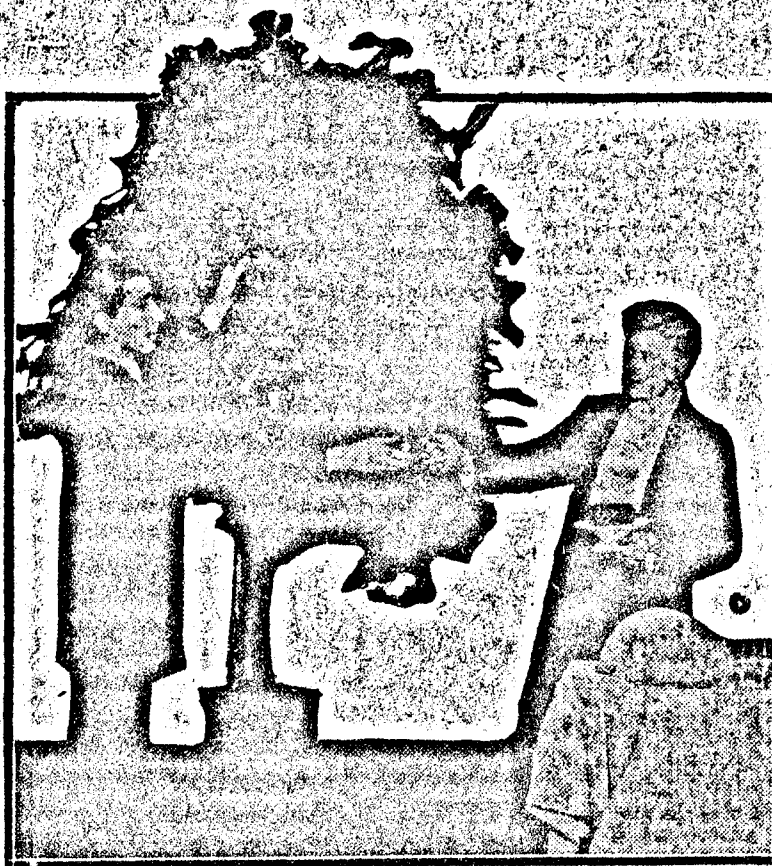

This is just laxative enough to help cure a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant. One of the most valuable and safe cough syrups on the market. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract rich in quassia and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe is now used by thousands of housewives throughout the United States and Canada. The plan has been limited, but the old successful formula has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—Adv.

Go to Moorhead. At Howard Moody's, his great pre-inventory sale will be a winner. You'll find wonderful low prices at this sale.

Picking Oranges Grown in a Dining Room

At a banquet given by the Sphinx club in London recently, the dessert consisted of oranges picked from a tree growing in the dining room but a moment before serving. The tree has sprung from pipe down in a flower pot fourteen years ago, and no grafting or transplanting has been done. In consequence of being able to ripen on the tree the fruit is much sweeter. The novelty has aroused a great deal of interest in horticultural circles, and hotel keepers in this country and Great Britain are looking into the proposition with a view to adopting it.
