

Commemoration Activities In Range and Northwest Cities Mark Social Affairs of Week

Banquets, Receptions and Music Programs Mark End of School Year in Cities of Northwest—Many Pretty Events Given By Hostesses for Teachers and Students—June Weddings and Affairs for Brides-elect Occupy Center of Interest for Coming Week.

Social life during the week just closed has had an academic flavor, much entertaining centering around commencement activities. Elaborate programs of a more or less formal nature have been given in the high schools of the different range and northwest towns, with receptions, junior and senior proms and alumni banquets. The departure of the teachers for the summer vacation was the signal for several delightful affairs, many of them entertaining at dinners and afternoon parties for the young women in the different towns. June weddings have furnished their quota of interesting events during the week and there have been innumerable small affairs for the brides-elect. A number of weddings are scheduled for the coming week, and will be the center of interest from the feminine viewpoint. In a large number of towns the "university week" program has occupied attention to the exclusion of purely home affairs, and there has been some informal entertaining for the staff of the university instructors who have been appearing on the program in the different cities of the "university instruction circuit." In addition to university week, Bemidji people entertained the Northwest Minnesota Editorial association Friday, Saturday and today, Virginia Hibbing and Chisholm have been occupied with school affairs on an elaborate scale, and Ashland, (Wis.) young people are staging an elaborate play to be given as a church benefit.
