

Luncheon Is Successful Affair

The members of Temple Aid society concluded the year's work with a rose luncheon and program, given at one o'clock yesterday in the ballroom of the Spalding.

About 50 members of the society were present at the luncheon, with Mrs. S. Goldberg presiding as toast-mistress. The invocation was given by Rabbi M. Lefkovits. Responding to toasts were Mrs. S. Mondshine, who spoke on "The Jewish Woman and the Home," Mrs. M. Cook, who discussed "Jewish Women and the Bible," Mrs. E. A. Silberstein, whose topic was "Friendship," and Mrs. S. Y. Josephs, who spoke on "the Jewish Woman and the Synagogue."

Following luncheon a delightful little burlesque, "Our Follies," was given, those taking part being Mrs. A. Abrahams, Mrs. Joseph Gidding, Mrs. G. A. Klein, Mrs. L. S. Loeb, Mrs. Leon Selig, Mrs. Josephs, Mrs. Goldberg, Mrs. Rudolph Abrahams and Mrs. M. S. Shapiro. The sketch was prepared under the direction of Mrs. Goldberg and Mrs. Loeb, each one of the cast having written her role. The sketch deals with the inevitable servant question and burlesques in clever fashion the members of the society.

At the request of invited guests the sketch is to be repeated tonight in the ballroom of the Spalding.
