

ZIEN'S LICENSE

EXPIRES TOMORROW

As a sequence to the Zien case, which was heard in the district court and later argued before the state supreme court, Isidore Zien, who failed to have the dry ordinance invalidated, will have to close his wholesale and retail liquor establishment at 101 West First street tomorrow night. His license expires then and under the city statutes he cannot be granted another.

His petition to have a transfer granted for the license of Frank Peterson, at 1909 West Superior street, will come before the city council Monday. If granted, Zien will conduct the business at his present location.
