

YOUTH ASSUMES BLAME TO FREE 'DAD,' ON TRIAL

Testifying in Father's Defense in Federal Court, Fort Atkinson Boy Protects Parent.

"I wanted to evade the draft," was the repeated answer of Fred Geisel Jr. to questions put to him by attorneys while he occupied the stand yesterday in defense of his father, Edward O. Geisel, Fort Atkinson, Wis., charged by federal authorities with aiding and abetting him to evade the draft law in April, 1918. The elder Geisel, who has not yet taken the stand in his own behalf, is expected to testify today.

Geisel is alleged to have persuaded his son to leave Fort Atkinson after an examining board had placed him in Class A-1, when it became evident that he would be called upon to enter the service with a few days. The younger Geisel testified to leaving Fort Atkinson in company with a friend, and that between April, 1918, and February, 1919, he was at Watertown, Wis., St. Paul, Fergus Falls, Atkinson and Brainerd, Minn.

He testified that at Fergus Falls he assumed the name of Nelson, and plainly stated that his object in doing so was to evade the draft. He repeatedly maintained that his father had not influenced him to disappear, but admitted that his father was aware that he was traveling under an assumed name.

Arrested at Brainerd.

Federal authorities arrested young Geisel, while he was employed at a Brainerd previous to February, 1919, according to his testimony. He was taken to Camp Dodge, and assigned to a recruit company, at that time he stated, and was later placed in a guardhouse, where he remained for 32 days, while his case was being investigated. He testified that he had been discharged from the army in September of this year.

The case is being prosecuted before Judge A. L. Sanborn by Albert C. Wolfe, United States district attorney, and B. H. Goggins, special assistant.

Continued applause marked the address of Douglas Malloch, president of the Duluth Commercial club, who spoke before 1,000 Superior people at the Plaza theatre last night in behalf of the Superior Commercial club's drive for an increased membership.

"The bar, the gossip, the grouch, the pettier, the man who overworks himself, are the ones who help most to destroy the spirit of good fellowship so necessary to the welfare of any city," he said.

T. J. Murphy of the Superior Commercial club introduced the speakers.

A whirlwind drive to raise the membership of the Commercial club from 200 to 1,500 will begin tomorrow from the new headquarters established at Twelfth street and Tower avenue.

LABOR FIGHTS FOR JOB AGENCY

Fee System Employment Bureau
Applies for License and Is Rapped by Union Men.

Bitter arguments were made during the night of Superior labor organizations before L. A. Farrell, chief examiner of the state industrial commission, in their efforts to prevent the issuance of a license to R. H. McDonald authorizing him to conduct an employment agency where fees will be collected.

That such an employment agency, where a charge will be made for securing employment for men, would result to the disadvantage of the laboring man, and that the continuance of the free state agency will be more desirable, was the contention of representatives of the trade unions, among whom were James B. Campbell, Trades and Labor assembly; Roy M. Baston, building trades council; and Bernard Strong, Shipbuilders' union.

Testimony taken at the Superior session will be placed before the commission at Madison and a decision made later.

Hearings of a number of claims under the workmen's compensation act occupied the greater part of yesterday's session at that time. Taken in the cases of Nicholas Veska vs. Great Northern Railway company; Gust Leino vs. Lawrence Duluth; and John Swanson vs. Duluth company, and J. W. Pritchard vs. Grain Door Reconstruction company.

The hearings will continue through Monday, when it is expected that all of the testimony in the cases pending will be ready to be submitted to the Madison office. The hearings are being held in the city hall.

THOMPSON FOUND GUILTY BY JURY

Verdict Is Manslaughter in the Fourth Degree; Sentence to Be Given Monday.

Guilty of manslaughter in the fourth degree was the jury's verdict in the case of Joseph Thompson, 18, on trial in Superior court in connection with the death on Sept. 14 of E. R. Reichhoff, who was killed by an auto which Thompson was driving. Sentence will be pronounced by Judge S. L. Perrin Monday. A fine of $100 is the minimum penalty and imprisonment for two years is maximum set by law upon conviction of this offense.

It is alleged that Thompson, in driving at a high rate of speed past the gates of a street car which was discharging passengers at Fifty-sixth street and Tower avenue, struck and killed Reichhoff who was alighting from the car. Thompson was charged with then having accelerated the speed of his machine, and to have driven out of the city in an effort to escape, being pursued and found.

Pending sentence, Thompson is held at the county jail without bail.

SUPERIOR REALTY CLUB INDORSES GOOD-ROAD PLAN

Proposal to Bond Douglas County for $1,200,000 Brings
Vote All One Way.

That Superior real estate men are unanimously in favor of the $1,200,000 good roads bond issue which will come to a vote at the election of Nov. 4, resulting from the action of the Superior Realty Estate board at the Commercial club last night. A committee composed of C. L. Wildner, chairman, U. H. Van Wick and M. H. Giffin was appointed to investigate the merits of the proposal, and to report it at the next meeting Oct. 31.

The money, if the bond issue is authorized by the voters, will be used in the construction of many new roads throughout Douglas county. The main improvement will be a concrete highway from this city to Black River Falls. Other new roads are contemplated, while the re-grading of many now in use is considered as a part of the program.

Cant Is Speaker.

Kenneth S. Cant, president of the Duluth Board of Realtors, addressed the meeting, speaking optimistically of the future of the Superior and Duluth, and expressing the opinion that the next year will see more activity in real estate circles than has been experienced for many years.

"Artificial difficulties and obstacles which have hampered the progress of Head of the Lakes cities in the past are rapidly being overcome," he said. "We are beginning to realize the necessity of co-operation. In the future with greater harmony than in the past, and by doing so we will see our dreams for larger and more prosperous cities fulfilled.

No Boom, Just Growth.

"I do not look for a 'boom,' as it is commonly thought of. But a general increase in the activity, not only in building lots, but also in unimproved lands. We are beginning to prepare for the day when this prosperity arrives. It is being felt already. The realization of our dreams is about to be fulfilled."

A joint banquet of the Duluth and Superior associations will take place within the next two weeks.
