

THE WAY OF MERE MAN

Just Because oSmebody Steals a Tire,
He Is Mad.

HIBBING, July 1.—Will the person who stole the new auto tire from the machine of Issie Sher, Minnesota "U" club member, kindly make known his identity. Sher promises to beat him up if he isn't too big.

The loss of the tire wouldn't have been so bad had it been stolen in "normal times," and not just before Sher was trying to perform a good Samaritan act. When he is willing to be a good fellow, Sher says, everybody else ought to be a good fellow and leave his tires alone.

It was during a heavy rain that Sher was summoned from his home to the Park addition, a mile away, and asked to bring a battery for an auto that was stuck in the mud.

As Sher has much sympathy for people in distress, except for the guy who took his tire, he started out. He had gone about two yards when he noticed his Lizzie jumped and bumped. Then he investigated and found one of the wheels was running on its rim.

Sher hired another auto to assist the man who needed the battery.

He's mad, doggone it.
