ris, Eva Lent, Bessie Litman Ben Serant, Sam Braverman, Ben Cohen, Helen Cook, Anna Davis, Sam J. Segal was the stage manager. During intermission addresses were delivered by Rabbi Lebediger and B. H. Arnold of Minneapolis. Both speakers called upon the Jewish Community of Duluth to work in harmony for the upbuilding of the Talmud Torah. Mr. Arnold also spoke in behalf of the Jerusalem Printing Works, of which he is the Northwestern Representative.—B. H. A.

THE REAL JEWISH PERIL OR THE MENACE OF ANTI-SEMITISM TO AMERICA

thirty days on Blackwell's Island or anywhere else, and anybody who has anything like a trained mind knows that well.

In 1917 (Mark the date. Will you kindly, bear it in mind for a moment, for I shall return to it) Nilus turns up again with a new edition of his book, or virtually a new book and this time he tells a new story of how he got the Protocols. This time he says, "I got them from my friend, Sukhotin, who was the Vice-Governor of Chernigov. He got them from a lady of Chernigov, a lady of the nobility. She, I think, got them by stealing them from the Free Masons. A copy was given to Sepiagin, Minister of the Interior, and after that he was assassinated, (the implication being that he was assassinated because he had the document) and then, well, I was convinced of their truth, they don't need any other evidence to establish their genuineness except the truth of the statements in themselves!" Now, what does that story tell us? First, by his own showing, Professor Nilus was a coward hiring in the great machine of the secret police of the Czar and an agent of the Black Hundreds. I say that his own story convicts him. Nobody was ever a friend and associate of Sukhotin who wasn't just that, to begin with. Sukhotin, Vice-Governor of Chernigov, reactionary of reactionaries, anti-Semite, leader of the Black Hundreds, friend of Sepiagin—Sepiagin, Minister of the Interior, persecutor of the Jews, organizer of pogroms, who met his fate at the hand of Balmashev in 1902. I say that the very fact that he cites these names as his associates convicts this anonymous and mysterious Nilus.

And yet, please bear in mind, he waits until Sukhotin is dead and he waits until Sepiagin is dead, until neither of them can either affirm or deny, and then he says, "These dead men, who can't answer back, they were implicated in the distribution of this document." And still there is no word as to where the original is, no word as to the language in which it is written, no word as to who is the translator, no word as to the test of the authenticity of the translation. It is on the strength of evidence like that, bearing every mark of fraud and forgery and criminality upon it, that there is instituted in this country the campaign that we are now witnessing.

(To be continued next week.)

Dr. Oesterreicher, president of the Zionist Organization, and Franz Szekely, president of the Budapest Community, have been elected as the new heads of the Budapest office of the Joint Distribution Committee, owing to accusations that the present chiefs were assimilators who misused their position in the organization to bring about expulsion of foreign Jews from Hungary.

London.—Our Warsaw correspondent telegraphs that Captain Manczynski who was officially declared responsible for the Lemberg pogrom of 1918 has now been appointed by the Polish government as Commander-in-Chief of that city.
