

Orecks presided at the Menorah Symposium.

The Symposium

The Menorah Society of the University of Minnesota presented a Symposium under the auspices of the B'nai Brith Tuesday evening at the Covenant Hall. The program was as follows: "Why Jewish Education is Necessary," by Max Shapiro. "What A Jewish Education Is," by Gerald Friedman. "How a Jewish Education Can be Applied and Results to be Expected," by David Goldstein. Marvin Oreck, president of the Menorah Society, presided. The Symposium was followed by dancing. On Sunday the Symposium was given in Hibbing where it was also well received.

Clubs

At the Kodivrim Society's meeting, Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Siegel, Mr. Sam Davis read a paper. Nomination of officers was held.

The Northern Lights, an organization for advancing the moral, social, and intellectual welfare of the Jewish youth, met Sunday, March 26, at the home of Mr. S. Siegel. The program consisted of instructive and interesting talk on "Parliamentary Law" by Mrs. M. S. Hirschfeld and an interesting discussion of the value of religion in shaping character, led by Dr. Alvin Luchs.

Ralph Levine, a member of the Northern Light Club, has been awarded first place in the Inter-Normal Oratorical Contest, held at Stevens Point, Wis., his topic being "Modern Nationalism." Mr. Levine will represent Wisconsin in the Interstate Oratorical Contest at McComb, Ill., on May 5.

Temple Emanuel

In the absence of Rabbi Alvin Luchs, Mr. Ralph Levine, senior student at the Superior Normal School, will occupy the pulpit of Temple Emanuel and Mr. E. A. Silberstein will read the services on Friday evening, March 31.

Mr. Levine will speak on "Modern Nationalism," this being the address which won the state prize in the state contest last month. It is an address well worth hearing.

EAST JEWS A "MENACE" TO GERMANY, JEW ASSERTS

Berlin (J. C. B.)—That the immigrants, including the Jews, from Eastern Europe are "intolerable," constituting an undesirable element, whose continued migration to Germany the government should stop, is the keynote of an article by Friedrich Neumann. President of the Federation of National German Jews, writing in the influential "Koelnische Zeitung."

The Nationalist Jews, Herr Neumann states, are enemies of the German culture. They admit that they are no part of the German people and should not be admitted, therefore, to any official positions in Germany.

Herr Neumann calls on the German people to particularly combat the Zionists' influence. At a certain Zionist meeting, in Berlin, Neumann complains, speeches were delivered by three Eastern Jews, among them a Polish Jewish deputy, appealing to the German Jews to send money to Palestine. Mr. Neumann insists the German government should see to it that no money is taken out of the Vaterland for foreign purposes.

Herr Neumann expresses special indignation over the warm welcome which the Berlin Jewish community gave to Dr. Weizmann, saying that this reception was an insult to the German people.

President Ebert is scored for having received Dr. Weizmann, this being due, in his opinion, to the latter's close relations with the British government.
