PAY UNIQUE TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF A PRESIDENT.

On January 29 thousands of Americans will be paying a unique tribute to the memory of a President of the United States. For this is the date of the birth of William McKinley, the Ohio lawyer and school teacher, whom Fate selected to be President at a turning point in American history, and the tribute that will be paid to him will be singularly appropriate to the character of the man it honors.

There's an interesting article about this President—both McKinley, the President and Statesman, and McKinley, the man, in this issue of The Miner. It's called "In Memory of a Martyr" and it was written by Elmo Scott Watson, who contributes regularly to this paper. Don't miss this feature!
