TOURISTS ARRIVE FROM MANY STATES

A short trip over any highway in Minnesota will convince anyone that the tourist season is at its height.

Among the cars with foreign license plates there is a considerable percentage that ought to carry Minnesota licenses.

Other machines which should carry Minnesota plates are those licensed in other states and purchased by residents of Minnesota.

Visitors to Minnesota may use cars licensed in their home state ninety days, provided they get a visitor's permit within ten days after entering the state.

The exemption does not extend to trucks. All trucks entering Minnesota must have Minnesota licenses.

Every community in the state wants better highways, and every car owner who craves the least tax is desiring needed highway improvements.

"GO SLOW" IS SAFE RULE WHERE MEN ARE WORKING. Oiling, tarring, regreaveling and various other repair work and improvements are in progress on many routes in the trunk highway system.

With the heavy and constantly growing travel on all the state routes, demands for repair work become more frequent. Besides the regular maintenance by the local section men, which is in progress on all roads the year around, the heavy traffic makes it necessary to do extra work, such as regreaveling, reshaping, scarifying and bituminous treatment, on many of the routes.

All this work will be done without closing any of the roads, and the department tries to do the work so as to interfere with traffic as little as possible. Signs placed well in advance call attention to the work. Drivers who rush through fresh oil or tar or new gravel without slowing up may come to grief, but if they drive at moderate speed and use reasonable caution there should be no trouble.
