The Junior Luther League of the First Ely Lutheran church held the first of the season's meetings on Tuesday evening. Officers chosen were Verna James, president; Archie Lundin, vice president; June Forsman, secretary, and Joyce Pearson, treasurer. The League planned to hold two meetings a month. Topics and Bible study will form the main discussions. The next meeting of the organization will be held on October 6.

"Thursday Musicals" Club Holds Initial Meeting.

A new club was formed in the music room of the Old High School, Thursday evening. The purpose of the club is cultural, including the study of music and the lives and works of the composers, to obtain knowledge of intelligent appreciation of good music. The name of the organization selected is "The Thursday Musicals." Meetings will be held the third Thursday of each month. Officers of the club are Mrs. Charles Lessey, president; Mrs. Isaac Martell, vice president; Mrs. Floyd Dunstan, secretary, and Mrs. Clifton Coombe, treasurer. Besides the above officers a board of directors has been chosen as follows: Miss Irene Koles, Mrs. Victor Kolvimaki, and Mrs. John Smrekar. Committee chairmen have been named with the following in charge: Membership—Mrs. J. Smrekar; program—Mrs. Frank Dinino; finance—Mrs. Clifton Coombe; publicity—Mrs. Emil Kuitunen; hospitality—Mrs. Emil Leino.

MINORS MUST HAVE LICENSE

Persons Under 14 Not Allowed To Hunt; Licenses for All 16 Years or Over.

With the annual hunting season in Minnesota in the offing, Conservation Commissioner Herman C. Wensel indicated that there is considerable misunderstanding concerning the rights of minor persons in hunting privileges. "Because of the confusion regarding the hunting status of minors, the division of game and fish was asked to check existing laws and attorney general's opinions to clarify the matter," Commissioner Wensel reported. Harry E. Speakes, game and fish director, in his study of the question, found an opinion rendered by the state's legal department that "no hunting license shall be issued to any person under 14 years of age, nor can such minor person handle or have in his possession, except while accompanied by parent or guardian, any firearm of any kind for hunting or target practice or any other purpose." "Residents of the state," Mr. Speakes said, "who are 16 years old or more are required to procure a hunting license for the purpose of hunting protected wild animals or game birds." "Minors between 14 and 16 years of age have the same hunting privileges as older persons and may hunt without being accompanied by parent or guardian. Such minors may obtain a hunting license if they wish, many preferring such a course rather than going to the trouble of proving age, should the question be raised by a game warden."

In commenting on the opening of the hunting seasons in Minnesota, shortly Guy W. Cravens, assistant conservation commissioner, called attention to the rights of land owners and occupants in hunting. "Any resident of the state and any member of such person's immediate family do not require a hunting license to hunt on their own land or land that is leased," Mr. Cravens said. "Such land, however, must be occupied as a permanent abode. "This exemption covers only wild birds or quadrupeds which may legally be taken, except deer, and the manner of taking must also be according to law. Naturally such hunting can only be done during regularly prescribed open seasons," Mr. Cravens concluded.

Girl Washed Through 125 Foot Storm Sewer.

Ortonville—Going through more than 125 feet of 24 inch storm sewer feet first and emerging from the other end, half of that width because of heavy silt deposits, may be just a "little Audrey" story to some people but not to Audrey Stark who had police and eye witnesses quite worried when she was literally washed through the narrow storm sewer. Six-year-old Audrey dressed in her swimming suit, was playing in the gutter shortly after a heavy rain when the onrush of water simply swept her off her feet and carried her, feet first, through the opening of the storm sewer that travels a distance of about 125 feet kitty-corner. That at least was her story. Eye witnesses saw the girl swept away and immediately called Victor Beckman, day patrolman, who went to the storm sewer outlet and found the drenched and coughing girl emerging from the narrow, silt filled opening. Audrey, none the worse for her experience excepting getting a bit of water in her lungs and some knee bruises, said she was just "carried right through and she was awfully scared and couldn't breathe much and when she opened her mouth to scream, she got her mouth all filled with water."

Check Lost Twenty-one Years is Paid.

Pergus Falls—A check drawn June 7, 1916 for $3.99 in favor of J. P. Trainor of Graceville has just been presented for payment to a local firm. Mr. Trainor, in looking through some old papers in his desk ran across the check and the envelope in which it was mailed. Naturally, he wondered whether the payment would be made if presented 21 years after the check had been drawn. The company is still in business and was glad to pay Mr. Trainor the amount due him.

Rotarians Harry of Wilderness Outfitters.

Thirty members of the Ely Rotary Club and one guest availed themselves of the opportunity to visit Easwood Lodge on the invitation of Manager E. G. Watts and last evening's regular meeting of the club was held in the spacious and beautiful lodge. The trip to and from the meeting was made in the boots of the Wilderness Outfitters. The trip up was made in daylight while the return trip encountered a pitch-black night. The meeting opened with President Con Haugen in the chair. Birthday greetings were sung for James I. Laing, John Dragovan, Harry DeWolff and Dr. C. G. Watson. A delicious fish dinner with all the trimmings was served by Host Watts. The fish had been most expertly steaked and prepared by Miss Lottie Sletten, chef at the lodge. E. W. Hanson made a vocational talk in which he brought out many historical facts relating to his vocation as agent for the D. M. & I. R. Mr. Hanson gave a history of the road from the beginning and cited the difference in transportation today from the conditions that prevailed fifty years ago when the road began to function. His paid a descriptive tribute to the late James Moonan, Rotarian, from the beginning of the Ely club up to his death. He spoke of the excellence of the management of the railroad and its officials. Mr. Hanson cited facts of Rotary service that had come under his direct attention during the years of his incumbency as agent in this city. All members of the club were present with the exception of three who were unavoidably prevented from attending. Harry DeWolff of Indianapolis was a Rotarian guest. Peter Moutson of Benton Harbor, Mich., was a guest of Ely. William Paulus at the meeting.

BRIDAL SHOWER.

Rides in Borrowed Car Costly Ending.

Annandale—Driving a borrowed car had a costly ending for a Maple Lake man who paid a fine of costs amounting to $100 after going for a ride in another man's car parked in front of a grocery store. Harry Kennedy of Staples, stopping in Annandale to visit his sister, did not expect to lose his car, but such was the case at least for a short time. He had driven in from the twin cities with a new car and stopped at a local store. Following him into the store was the Maple City man who walked to the rear of the store, turned and walked out. He stepped into Mr. Kennedy's car and drove away just as Mr. Kennedy came out to go to his sister's home to join the family at supper. After reaching Maple Lake with the "borrowed" car, the driver returned to Annandale and then drove back to Maple Lake where authorities picked up the man and placed charges against him.

Big Fork River Flows Two Ways.

Blackduck—Talk about not getting any place! Even water in a river can't get anywhere when it first flows in one direction and then in another. But that's what the Big Fork River does, and the facts can be vouched for by government officials. The Big Fork river at a point near the U. S. Forest Ranger Station at Dora lake, about 20 miles east of Blackduck, flows north under normal conditions. Following the heavy rains of two weeks ago the water at that point raised several inches above the elevation of the source of the river and began running south. The river has a fall of only 11 inches in the nine miles from its source in a swamp to Dora lake ranger station. The strange sight was observed by forest ranger P. J. S. Mont of Blackduck and his assistant, D. F. Ferguson.

100 ATTEND FALL RALLY

Former School Superintendent is Presbyter at Fall Rally of Presbyterian Church.

"Get a mutual understanding between this section and the balance of the state and with one another, to get better results" said Walter E. Englund, executive secretary of the Minnesota Education Association of St. Paul, in his address at the annual fall rally of the First Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening. Mr. Englund was accompanied by Mrs. Englund. Mr. Englund spoke of his coming to Ely 25 years ago and the changes that have taken place since his arrival in both the social and economic conditions and also spoke of the beauty and size of Minnesota. While he stated that he did not wish to get into the political situation, he thought that a "clearer understanding of all sides should be secured through education and that the truth should be discussed in the schools." The plans of Mr. Englund in the economic and political situation would be to "study all sides and arrive at a truthful solution."

The rally opened at 6:30 with the serving of a dinner by the Ladies Aid, assisted by the Guild, in the club rooms of the church. Nearly a hundred persons were seated and did full justice to the excellent menu.

Group singing, under the leadership of Byrd Brownell, to accompany Mrs. E. W. Hanson, interspersed the proceedings after dinner. The Rev. H. Russell Browne in his introductory remarks spoke of the 50th anniversary of the Presbyterian church in this city and stated that the event would be celebrated in 1939 when he hoped the present small mortgage on the property would be burned and the church be clear of debt. He said this would be the aim of the congregation for the coming two years. E. W. Hanson, for the board of trustees, read a report which showed the finances in good condition with the exception of a small mortgage at the bank. Mr. Hanson also presented the budget for the coming year as compiled by the board. Walter Englund won a prize for singing a solo in competition with B. O. Strachan, Mrs. Clifford Nelson and Mrs. George T. Ayres. The meeting closed with the singing of "God Be With You 'Till We Meet Again."

The Book of Job

The author of the Book of Job is unknown. It has been judged that either Jehoiachim or Hemen, writer of many of the Psalms, wrote the book, probably during the period of the captivity, although the scenes of the book are laid in early times when "God talked with man." By many people, says the Washington Star, it is held to be an allegory showing God's providential care over Israel, although He may design a trying purpose for them.
