Court Rules Against Making Jail Of Home

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The Johannesburg supreme court ruled Thursday that a man's home can't be used as his prison under present law.

The verdict brought a series of celebrations and breakouts from confinement of South Africans held under house arrest by order of Justice Minister Balthazar Vorster as alleged subversives.

Some of the 20 confined by law to their homes since crackdowns under the Suppression of Communism Act began in mid-October had been silenced as well, and in the wake of the verdict they began talking with neighbors again.

The South African Press Association reported several people under restriction in Johannesburg broke house arrest by receiving guests or going out on the town to celebrate.

The verdict was on an appeal from Percy John (Jack) Hodgson, a Johannesburg wholesaler, who had been

Mine Shaft Yields Youth

SPARKS, Nev. (AP) — A 16-year-old Reno boy fell 25 feet into a 170-foot deep mine shaft Thursday near Sparks and after 40 minutes of rescue operation, firemen pulled him out.

The boy, Erwin McPherson, was taken to the Washoe Medical Center in Reno. A spokesman there told the Associated Press... "The boy seems to be in pretty good shape. Sore and beat up but lucky."

Authorities said the boy and 17-year-old Kurt Kersch of Reno were exploring around the old mining area just outside of Sparks when the boy entered the shaft.

They say he climbed down a way and then tumbled about 25 feet. One fireman was lowered into the shaft. He put a harness around the boy and a wrecker truck pulled the two out.

FIRE RAGES IN MINE

GRANT TOWN, W. Va. (AP) — Fire was reported out of control in one of West Virginia's biggest coal mines Thursday night after a series of underground explosions. Officials said no one was in the mine when the blasts began and reported there were no injuries. Occupants vacated at least one home close to the mine.

side Johannesburg, house arrest orders were ignored by Walter Sisulu, former African nationalist leader, who threw a party; and MacDonald Maseko, official of the Swaziland Progressive party.

Indian leader Ahmed Kathrada went out to supper, ending his confinement.

In the South African capital, Atty. Gen. R. W. Rein said the supreme court judgment made it impossible for him to comment on the present status of those who had been confined.

SEC Upholds Stockholder's Right To Query

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission has ruled a shareholder may ask it to determine whether directors of a mutual fund are controlled illegally by the fund's investment advisers and main underwriters.

The commission declined, however, to judge the merits of shareholder complaints which resulted in the precedent-setting decision. It left that to the courts, where the shareholders previously had charged certain directors were dominated by investment advisers.

As the SEC ruling was announced, a spokesman said the commission is leveling an eye on the industry to determine whether such control is widespread. By law, at least 40 per cent of the directors of a fund company must be independent of its investment advisers or underwriters.

Advisers to the big mutual funds, or investment companies, may draw fees in the millions of dollars.

In its ruling, the SEC found it has the power to determine whether influence is exercised over an individual. Companies named in the case had argued the Investment Company Act of 1940 applied only to management and policies.

The commission also decided any finding of control could have retroactive effect, opening the possibility of invalidating past company actions and consequent damage claims.

The complaints to the SEC named Investors Mutual Inc. of Minneapolis, Fundamental Investors Inc. of Elizabeth, N.J., and Television-Electronics Fund Inc. of Chicago. Investors Mutual, which reported assets of nearly $1.7-billion as of last June 30, is one of the country's largest investment companies.

Cases are now pending against Investors Mutual in the Federal District Court of Minnesota and in New York Supreme Court for New York County. Cases have been brought against Fundamental Investors and Television-Electronics in Delaware Chancery Court.

Thousands Hold Stocks
At mid-year, Fundamental Investors had assets of $557 million and Television-Electronics $327 million.

The three funds have several hundred thousand stockholders.

When the complaints were filed, Investors Mutual's adviser was Investors Diversified Services Inc. Fundamental

ABC Plans News Shift

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Broadcasting Co. said Thursday its news department is being reorganized under James C. Hagerty, vice president in charge of news and special events.

Hagerty will continue in charge of over-all supervision and policy decisions, but he "will no longer deal personally with details of day to day operations," the network said.

Thomas Velotta, vice president for administration, will be responsible for administrative functions of the department, the announcement said. Robert Lang, vice president for operations, will handle operational matters.

Board Planned

Hagerty said the total effect of the reorganization will be to consolidate the department, designate areas of responsibility and facilitate communications between top management and ABC news.

The change, he said, will enable executives of the department to "pay more attention to the over-all news operation" and maintain closer cooperation with affiliated stations.

The announcement also said an ABC editorial board would be set up to "facilitate faster and more fluid communications with top management" in forming company policy on various matters.

Hagerty, who was White House press secretary during the administration of President Eisenhower, will serve as chairman of the board.

Nixon Program Cited

A network spokesman said the reorganization has nothing to do with a recent ABC program dealing with the career of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The appearance on the program of Alger Hiss, a former State Department official who was convicted of perjury, created a storm of protest. Several advertisers canceled or sought to cancel network contracts.

Hagerty later said he was "against Hiss and everything he stands for. I have no use for him — never have had, and never will have. But that doesn't alter the fact that he did play an important part in the political career of Richard Nixon."

Physician Dies At Home After Refusing Attention

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dr. E. Bertrand Woolfan, bleeding from a bullet wound near the heart, told police and ambulance attendants:

"I have diagnosed my wound and it will kill me. My lung is filling up with blood, and I am dying. I wish to die at home. Please leave me alone."

Detectives said Mrs. Woolfan called them to the family's Hollywood Hills home Wednesday to report the shooting. They said she agreed with her husband's wishes that he be allowed to die at home.

Officers said they cannot force a person in a private home to accept medical treatment if he or she is conscious and of clear mind.

Jan. 1 Holiday On Exchanges

Mrs. William H. Newell, 94 of White Plains, died in a nursing home.

White House Won't Talk About Condition of Dog

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — If Pushinka is about to have puppies — it's top secret.

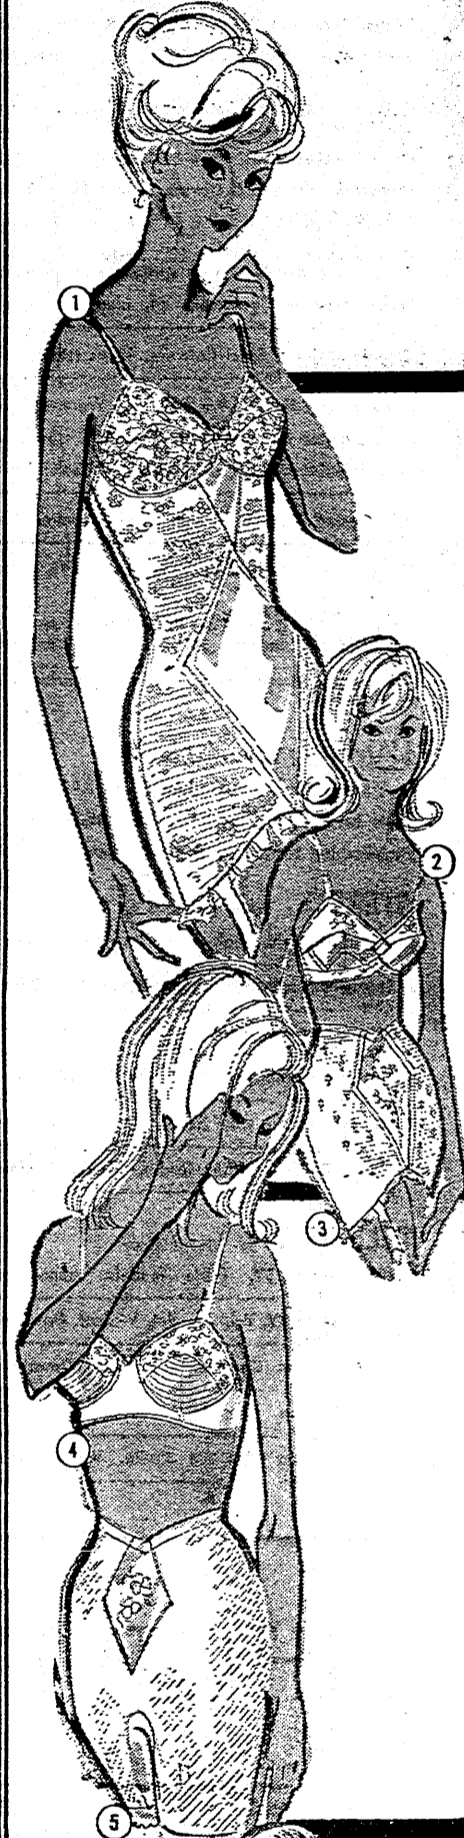

Two weeks ago it was confirmed that Pushinka, one of the Kennedy children's three pet dogs — had taken a pregnancy test. Now the White House is turning coy.

"The iron curtain has descended," White House press secretary Pierre Salinger quipped when asked about the test. The 10 days it took for completion are gone and the results should be in. But Salinger is refusing to confirm or deny the rumors.

It's a safe bet five-year-old Caroline and John Jr., aged 2, would be happy to welcome additions to their canine family.

Pushinka, a fluffy white dog, is the daughter of Russia's space dog "Strelka" and was given to the Kennedys by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.
